Selectmen vote to accept tax 'shift'

by Jeff Nazzaro

Wilmington residents can expect to pay an additional $103 in residential property taxes for fiscal year 1994, but "Wilmington still has one of the lowest residential tax rates in the Commonwealth," according to the town's Principal Assessor, Humphrey (Skip) Moynihan. The increase will come in the form of a 1.45 percent "classification shift" used as a means of further attracting industry to the town.

Moynihan was on-hand at Monday's board of selectmen meeting to present in public hearing format a discussion of local property tax policy in the town. The selectmen voted unanimously to accept the board of assessors proposal for the 1.45 percent shift that will result in the tax increase.

"I think it's clear that our collective tax policy...has brought about some positive results," Moynihan said.

Adopted in 1993, the classification shift allows the town to levy taxes to commercial, industrial and personal property classes differently from residential taxes. The 1.45 percent increase is less than the maximum 1.75 percent rise allowed.

In a letter to the board of selectmen from the board of assessors it is stated that "while [the classification shift] affords a significant tax benefit for the homeowners of Wilmington, it also denotes an awareness toward stabilizing the tax structure for commercial and industrial properties.

Selectman Michael McCoy, who is taxed in town as a homeowner and businessman, suggested the possibility of structuring the tax levy so as to grant residents a $150 savings, stating additionally he does not "think next year [he] will vote for a residential tax increase."

Moynihan said that to raise the tax on commercial and industrial classes in favor of a residential tax break would be "sending a tough, tough message [to businesses].

Residential property values comprise 63 percent of the town's $1.5 billion total assessed value, and will be paid at a rate of $11.28 per thousand dollars of the assessed value of a home. Commercial, industrial and personal property classes will be taxed at $22.07 per thousand dollars.

Board of assessors' statistics show that Wilmington residents pay at low tax rates, including:

- The lowest residential property tax rate of the six surrounding communities of Andover, Tewksbury, Burlington, Chelmsford, Reading and Billerica. Wilmington residents will in 1994 pay a lower rate ($11.28 per thousand) than Tewksbury residents did in 1993 ($12.00).
- The 188th lowest residential tax bill of the 351 cities and towns in the Commonwealth.
- Of the 32 communities similar to Wilmington, the town ranks 32nd in terms of lowest residential tax bills.

Further, the town's total assessed value has risen approximately $71 million from F.Y. 93 to F.Y. 94.

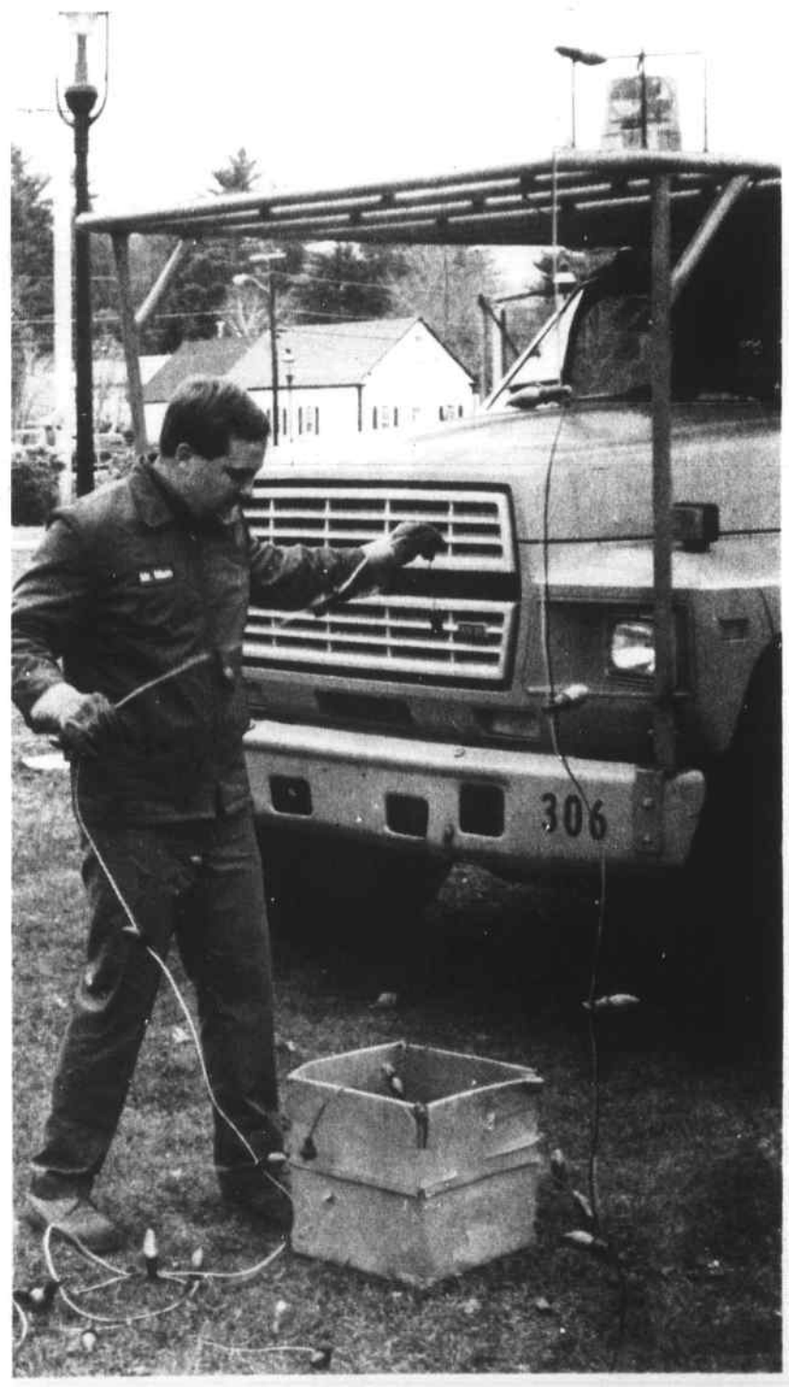

"We are in fact in Wilmington experiencing new business growth," Town Manager Michael Caira said, despite the fact that industrial class assessed values are down over $16 million, explaining this to be due to overassessments during the 1980's.

The slack from this deficit is made up in the three other classes, with residential property values rising more than $20 million dollars since 1993.

MBTA will sell easements to Sweetheart

by Jeff Nazzaro

In a letter to Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority Advisory Board (MBTA) Executive Director Anne M. Larner dated November 1, MBTA General Manager John J. Haley, Jr. states "the [MBTA] intends to sell to Sweetheart Cup Company two surface easements for access located in Wilmington."

Allan, Duggan abstain as Caira reappointed

by Jeff Nazzaro

Town Manager Michael Caira was appointed to another three-year stint by the Wilmington Board of Selectmen at their Monday meeting, some seven months before Caira's current term is up. The appointment was passed 3-0, with Selectmen Diane Allan and Gerald Duggan abstaining.

A second motion, forwarded by Selectman Michael McCoy and seconded by Selectman Robert Cain, forming a subcommittee to discuss a new contract for the town manager passed by the same 3-0 margin.

In abstaining, both Duggan and Allan cited the prematurity of reappointing Caira, whose next three years as town manager will begin on June 1, 1994.

"I'm just not prepared to consider this at this time," Duggan said.

Allan was more effusive on the matter, stating "I would like more time to begin my evaluation process" regarding Caira's management. Allan also attempted to postpone the vote to reappoint Caira two meetings from Monday's, which would have been December 20. The motion to reappoint was already on the floor, however.

McCoy, reading from a prepared statement, gave a strong "vote of confidence" towards Caira being renamed to the position.

Cain echoed McCoy's views, stating "I would certainly agree with Michael," and adding praise of Caira's "dedication to the community."

In response to Allan's and Duggan's concern over the time-frame in reappointing, Cain cited the need for "ample time [for Caira] to find a job" should the board vote not to extend his tenure.

But a positive vote for Caira never seemed in question, as Cain, McCoy and Chairman of the Board of Selectmen Chester Bruce all offered support for the town manager prior to Cain's justification of the timing of the vote.

In voting in favor of the reappointment, Bruce demonstrated the most marked turnaround.

"I, in the past, was against the town manager being hired...I did not support a contract for the town manager...[but] it is my own personal feeling that Mr. Caira has done a good job," Bruce said, citing only two negative responses in 50 from residents he informally polled regarding the manager's performance.

Bruce stated he felt the entire board should meet with Caira at a later date in an executive, or closed-door, session to discuss a new contract for the town manager. Cain and McCoy, however, favored a subcommittee, with McCoy referring to the "3-2 vote" in reappointing Caira, to which Duggan responded "I abstained and that's a neutral vote."

But the negative implications of the abstentions from Duggan and Allan were as obvious as the political rift created as a result of the battle they waged with Caira as members of the water and sewer subcommittee.

After the 3-0 vote in favor of the subcommittee, Bruce quickly appointed McCoy and Cain under the conditions they are to then report back to the board as a whole in executive session before a regularly scheduled meeting.

Both Allan and Duggan declined a subsequent offer from Bruce for either to join the subcommittee.

"I've had my fill of subcommittees," Duggan quipped.

HOW NOT TO PAY CAPITAL GAINS TAX

Good news: the new budget bill leaves the capital gains tax at 28 percent. What's better: avoiding it altogether. Here's how.

•Donate appreciated property to charity. The donor gets a charitable deduction for the full market value of the property, and no one has to pay tax on the appreciation since purchase. Under the new law, that appreciation amount no longer is included in alternative minimum taxable income.

•Keep the property until you die. The capital gain escapes taxing altogether; the heirs' basis is the price of date-of-death.

•Take a loss to offset the gain, dollar for dollar.

•Borrow against the asset; the interest expense is deductible if you have other investment income.

•On residential real estate, buy a new principal residence within two years of selling, spending at least the amount equal to the selling price of the old residence.

•Business or investment property can be swapped for similar property to avoid current taxation under the rules of "like-kind exchange."

•Sell on the installment plan and spread out the gain.

Pay no more taxes than you have to. We'll show you how at Winchester Hospital meeting senior's healthcare needs

Traditionally, hospitals have focused on acute care, marshalling specialists and high tech resources to cure patients when they are sick. For seniors, however, often what they need most is an integrated and continuing system of care that maximizes their ability to remain independent for as long as possible. Propelling this continuum of care is the emphasis of Winchester Hospital Geriatric Services.

Paula Koppel, R.N., manager of Geriatric Services at Winchester Hospital, talks about how this system of care worked for one elderly patient and her family:

"This particular patient (let's call her Mrs. A.) had been discharged from another North Shore hospital and went to live with her daughter and family in Winchester," says Koppel. "She began to experience intermittent episodes of confusion. The family wasn't satisfied that her original primary care provider was addressing the problem and so sought a local resource her in Winchester. That's when they called our physician referral service."

Through this initial contact with Winchester Hospital, Mrs. A's family found a primary care doctor for her who in turn, initiated a consultation with the hospital's geriatric consult team made up of a geriatrician (an internist board-certified in geriatrics, and nurse practitioner and social worker, both specialists in geriatrics. Koppel herself was the nurse specialist on this particular case, and made several home visits to get to know Mrs. A. and her family.

The focus of the consultation is to provide a comprehensive, multi-disciplinary assessment of the patient" Koppel explains. "We identified a lot of things that could be causing Mrs. A's problems. We gave that information to her primary care provider who, after seeing Mrs. A., worked up a diagnosis."

Mrs. A. was subsequently hospitalized at Winchester Hospital for pneumonia. "Because we knew Mrs. A., we were able to ensure that all the information we had collected up to that point was available to her care team at the hospital Koppel says.

While hospitalized, Mrs. A. participated in Winchester Hospital's Recuperative Program. Designed to maintain and restore the elder patient's health, independence and strength during hospitalization, the program is offered free of charge as a speed recovery so that older patients can return home as quickly as possible. It consists of safe and gentle strengthening and conditioning exercises, occupational and physical therapy, a nutritional program, and health and self care information for both patients and their family caregivers.

After her first hospital visit, Mrs. A. was followed up with by phone through the hospital's Recuperative and Consultation services. The hospital also coordinated home healthcare services through the visiting nurse association for Mrs. A after her discharge.

Several months later, Mrs. A. was again hospitalized; this time, her condition was terminal. The family was committed to take her home, and Winchester Hospital's geriatric nurse specialist worked closely with the family to develop a discharge plan for home care which included hospice.

"You just don't know what you'll need at a time like that," says Beth Coss, Mrs. A's daughter, looking back at her mother's experience with Winchester Hospital's Geriatric Services. "I didn't even know the questions I wanted to ask. But Paula and her team were always there to coordinate things; they knew what we needed at a time when we weren't thinking straight.

"We could have gone from doctor to doctor since my mother had all these different health issues," she continues. "The coordination of the resources that are available was great help. For example, I hadn't even known about the visiting nurse association."

In addition to the services which Mrs. A and her family utilized, Winchester Hospital also offers other resources for seniors in the community. These include Senior Health Days at the Health Promotion center in Woburn and the transitional rehabilitation program, offered in conjunction with the Woburn Nursing Center.

"Each month, we offer a day long program of education, screenings, lunch and exercise on a particular health topic," Koppel explains, describing Senior Health days. Topics have included diabetes, eye health and high blood pressure.

"We try to inform seniors of the services available which relate to the topic of the day," says Koppel. "For example, when we discussed eye health we offered a glaucoma test, vision testing, and representatives from VNA, Commission for the Blind and Lifeline were there.

"We want to empower seniors with the most up to date information on aging and health, to help them to age as successfully as possible."

The transitional rehabilitation program offers elders an interim step between hospitalization and home through which they can regain their strength and independence - and avoid long term care.

Giving thanks for Tewksbury schools

Dear Larz:

The Tewksbury Public School Community is blessed with many fine students and staff members, parents and citizens who work within the schools in support of our efforts. Thanksgiving is a fitting time to acknowledge some of the ongoing initiatives and contributions of these individuals.

We give thanks:

For the Tewksbury School Committee, for its time and effort in leading the Tewksbury Public Schools.

For the parent advisory councils, for the many programs they run and the many funds which they contribute to provide enrichment programs, field trips, presentations by noted children's authors, scholarship awards and many other programs.

For the High School faculty, for the commitment to preparing an in-depth self-evaluation report for the future school evaluation for 10 year accreditation.

For the middle school faculty, that continues to apply talents and professional expertise to make the second year of the middle school program a success.

For the elementary faculty for its initiative in piloting three potential new reading programs and for the work on expanding the grade level standards in reading.

For the administrative team that is working hard to learn new roles under educational reform and to continue to develop educational programs to prepare the students for the 21st century.

For the student-athletes, who distinguished themselves on and off the playing field during the fall season.

For the members of the newly formed school councils, for their time, effort and commitment to the process of educational reform and school based management.

For the support staff in the schools, the instructional and library aides, secretaries, custodians, food service workers and maintenance men, who are the unsung heroes and heroines of the Tewksbury Public Schools and the "glue" which holds the system together.

For the town officials, for their support throughout this year on the many construction projects and financial changes resulting from education reform.

For the police and fire departments and the department of public works for their commitment to the goal of providing a safe and secure school environment.

For the citizens of Tewksbury, who support the schools by attending programs and serving on numerous committees.

Happy Thanksgiving,
Christine L. McGrath
Superintendent of Schools,
Tewksbury

Applefest was great!

Dear Larz:

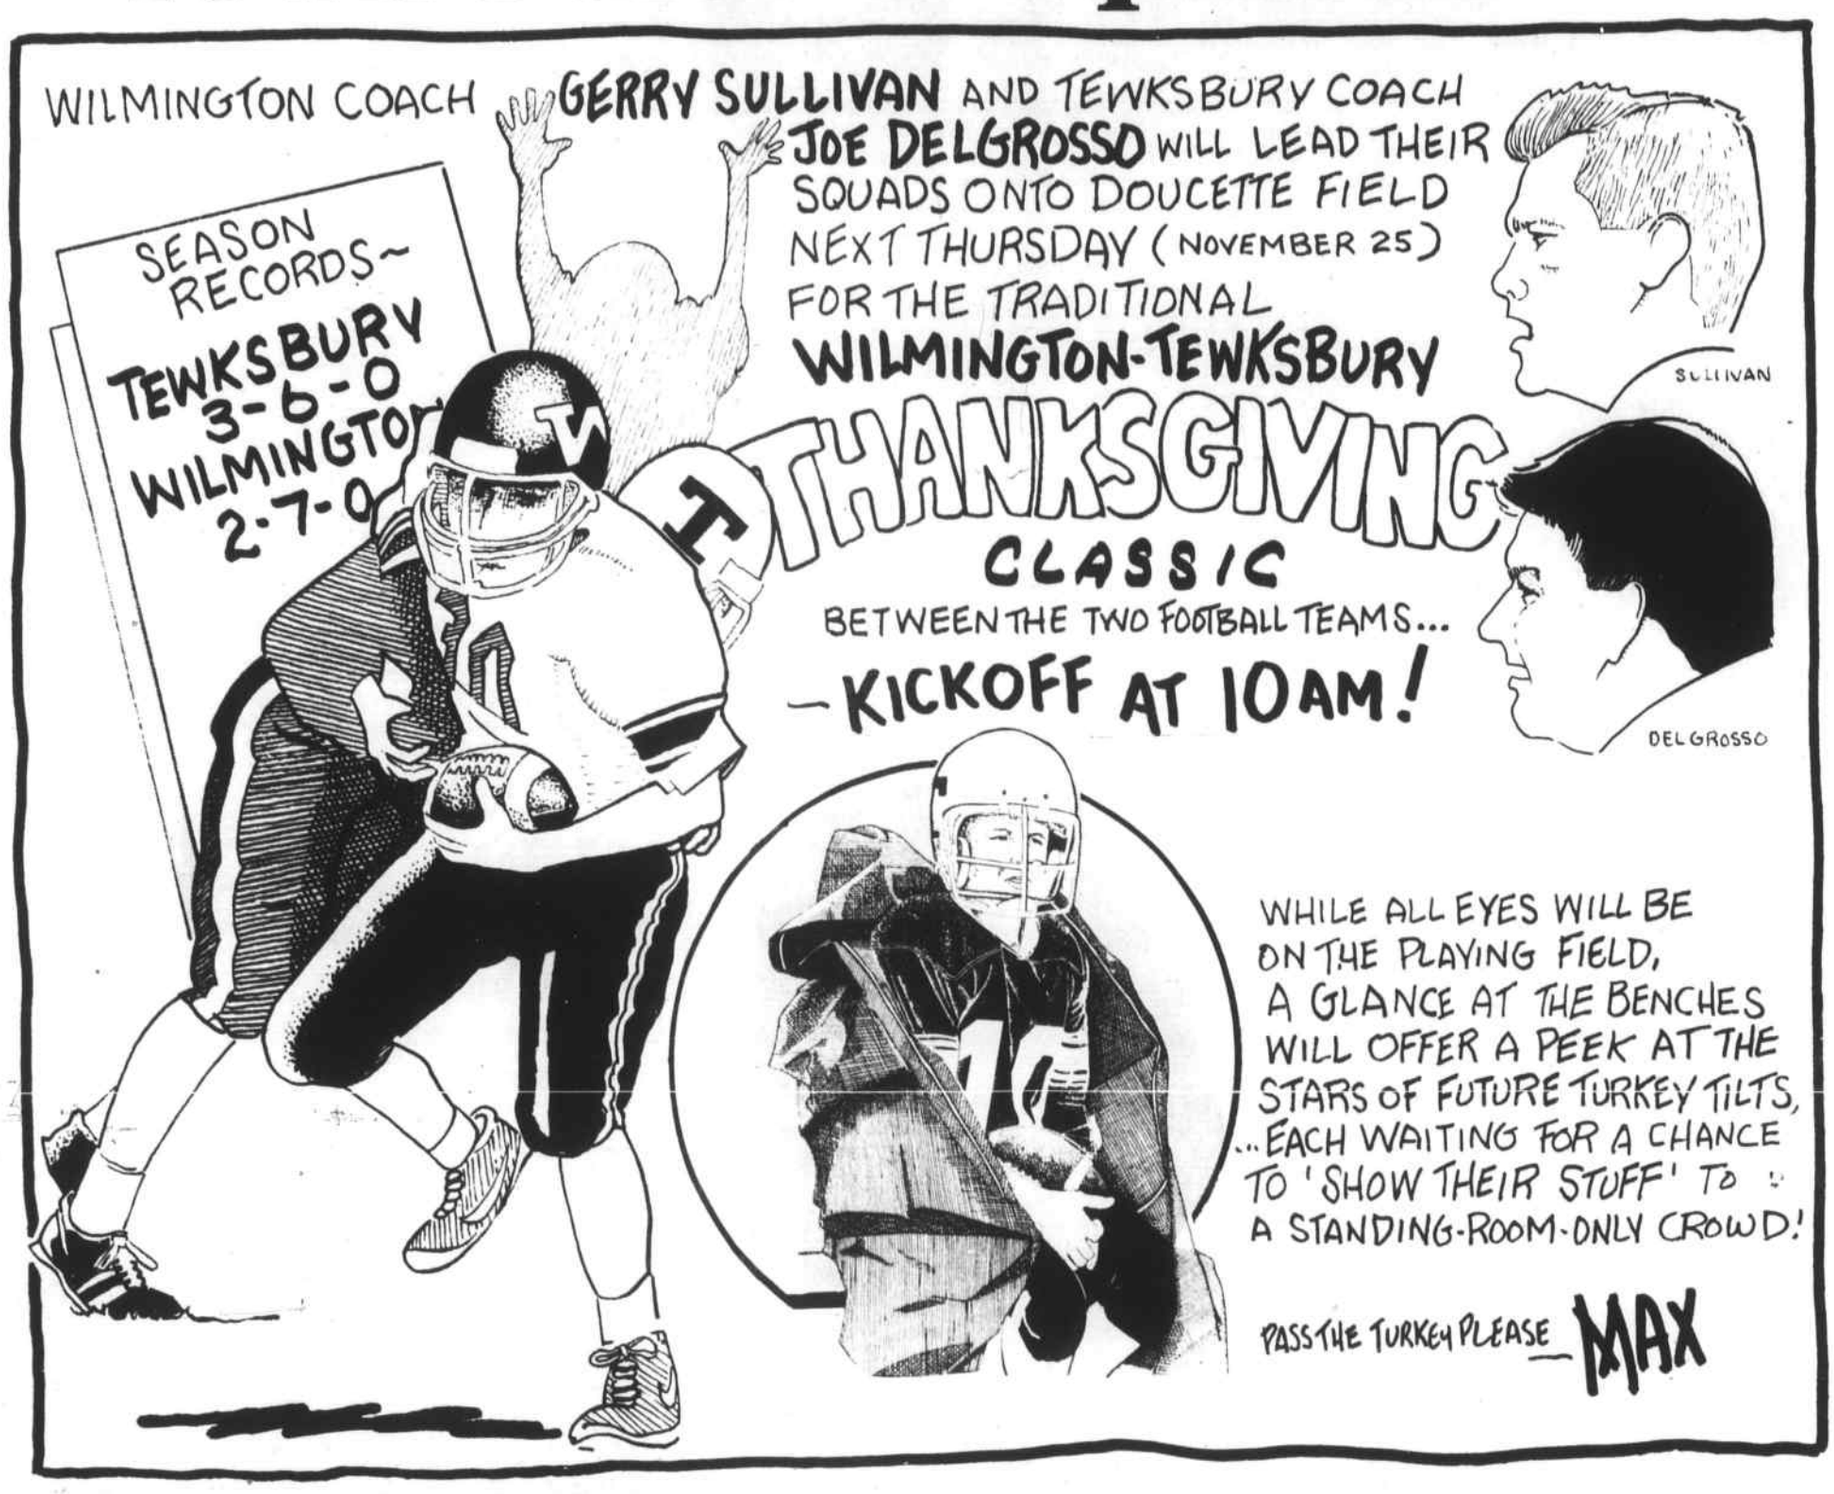

I would like to thank everyone who participated and volunteered in making the sixth annual Applefest Craft Fair a great success. While all the parents, students, and friends worked very hard, they also had a lot of fun.

The raffle winners were: 50/50 raffle, $307.00 Donna Ray, Tewksbury; cash raffle, $500, Denise Faherty, Tewksbury; $250, Ruth Colson, Tewksbury; $100, Bill Hurton, Tewksbury.

Twenty-five dollar winners: Kathy Hagerty, Tewksbury; Amanda Hicks, Tewksbury; D. Morrissey, Tewksbury; Tom Walsh, Tewksbury; Patricia Ryan, Lowell; Karen Parent, Dunstable; Diane Gramstorff, Lowell.

Thank you,
Paula Coppola

Tech budget falls short

The November 30, 1983 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

Shawsheen Tech asked the town for an additional $10,590 to help cover a shortfall for their 83-84 fiscal year. Total shortfall of $180,000 could be pared down to a net deficit of $60,844. The Tech was asking the five participating towns to come up with that amount of money divided by percentage of student population.

November 20 was Aldo Caira Day in Wilmington by vote of the board of selectmen. The national president of the Sons of Italy in America, was honored by his home Lodge. Some 450 persons were present when Venerable Chris DeCecca announced that the main hall of the new Ballardvale Street Lodge is now named for Caira. He was pictured accepting the wall plaque, "Aldo Caira Hall" from Venerable DeCecca. Also pictured were Mrs. Laura Caira and Mass. Attorney General Frank Bellotti.

Michael Stokes of Jacobs Street was named to the dean's list for the summer quarter at Northeastern University where he was enrolled in the College of Pharmacy and Allied Health.

Ricky's Dog House

The November 28, 1968 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

The Wilmington's high school football team was pictured behind the Elks Trophy, awarded annually to the winner of the Wilmington/Tewksbury game, which had become the permanent property of the Wildcats, for three successive wins.

Outstanding Cadet Stephen Parsons, Cadet 2c in the CAP was pictured as he accepted a handsome trophy from Selectman Jim Miceli at the Tewksbury Civil Air Patrol. The John B. Slate award, for the outstanding cadet at the summer encampment at the Griffiths AFB in New York. Also pictured was Stephen's father Wally Parsons of Marion Street.

The Dayton Skate Exchange on Burlington Avenue was offering skates in the correct size for old ones and $1.

Wilbur Southmayd of Kendall Street was pictured accepting a gold watch from company President Henry L. Foster, DVM of the Charles River Breeding Labs. A life-long resident of Wilmington, Southmayd was a senior truck driver of the company and completed 15 years of service.

John Kostrzewa of Ricky's Dog House was pictured cleaning up the glass from a broken window. Doris Cady drove her Cadillac through it.

Marcucci paintings on display

The November 30, 1983 edition of the Town Crier of Tewksbury noted that:

With at least one-third of the town already receiving fluoridated water from surrounding communities, the board of health was expected to address a proposal that would fluoridate the entire town's water supply at no cost to taxpayers. Under a state administered grant programs, 100 percent of the program's initial start up cost would come from a federal block grant.

Paintings by Tewksbury artist Mary Jane Marcucci, depicting scenes at Tewksbury Hospital and of the Shawsheen River were on display at Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank in Tewksbury.

A multi purpose building on Woburn Street became the object of controversy when neighbors turned up at a board of appeals hearing opposed to the request of Edward Johnson, owner of Northeast Cycle to establish a motorcycle sales business in the building.

There was no immediate decision, appeals board members moved that before deciding, they should make an inspection of the site.

The Chamber of Commerce honored Father Blaney as the 1983 Good Guy.

Toys for Tots Telethon Dec. 4

Continental Cablevision and the U.S. Marine Corps reserve are asking area residents to call or go to Continental's 41 Montvale Ave., studio from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 4, with donations of toys or cash for needy families during a live "Toys for Tots" telethon on Channel 6.

"We're hoping cable viewers will turn in Saturday to catch some terrific local entertainment, and kick off the holiday giving season by calling in donations or bringing toys to the studio during the telethon," said Continental program Director Kathy Villare.

"By coming together as a community and making the Toys for Tots telethon a big success, we can all play a role in assuring that local children whose families are down on their luck have a happier and healthier holiday," said Villare.

The call-in donation line is (617) 438-3209, Marine Reservists will be on hand to accept donations of toys at the studio.

Highlights of the cable telethon include a visit from Santa in a military vehicle, guest appearances by community leaders and a full slate of local entertainment.

Among those performing will be local bands, singers, dancers, and kids favorite cartoon characters. There will also be cooking demonstrations and performances by local gymnastic groups.

Residents throughout the area are urged to call in, drop in, and as the Marines say "Give to a Good Claus."

Auto Sense
by Jim Boudreau

THE OXYGEN SENSOR'S ROLE

Because its failure can lead to poor gas mileage and various engine performance problems, auto manufacturers recommend that oxygen sensors be replaced at regular intervals as part of a preventive maintenance program. The oxygen sensor is a crucial piece of equipment that constantly monitors the among of oxygen present in the engine's exhaust after the engine has warmed up. The presence of too much oxygen means that the fuel mixture is too "lean," in which case the sensor signals the computer to inject more fuel into the engine. A mixture that is too "rich" causes the sensor to signal the computer to inject less fuel. By controlling the air/fuel mixture in this way, the oxygen sensor ensures optimum gas mileage and low emissions of air pollutants.

Keep your engine running smoothly with regular tune-ups and maintenance checks by an experienced mechanic who will be alert to potential trouble spots. At BOUDREAU'S AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE CENTER, our mechanics are specialists in their fields and use the latest computerized diagnostic equipment. Plus, we offer free transportation to the local area. Visit us at 2184 Main St., Rt. 38, or call 658-2120. We're open Mon-Fri 7-5, Sat. 8-3.

HINT: Because an oxygen sensor can compensate for inadequate air supply due to a partially clogged air filter, the filter should be inspected regularly.

North Intermediate news notes

Marshalls and North working together

Five employees from Marshalls Distribution Center in Woburn are volunteering in an afternoon program at the North Intermediate School in Wilmington. These people are working to assist 19 sixth graders with homework and school projects: they are also conducting recreational activities such as using the gym, computer lab, library and art room.

The after school program is supervised by Joseph Plassmann and Frank Birmingham, two N.I.S. teachers.

Sixth graders enhance their understanding of disabilities

During the first week of November, the North's sixth grade students were involved with an interdisciplinary study involving disabilities. While reading classes were delving into "The Story of My Life" by Helen Keller, English classes were involved in writing and vocabulary building activities on the same subject. Science classes studied the composition and function of the eye and later did the same with the ear.

In the library classes, students worked with Braille alphabet and sentence cards attempting to decipher messages written in Braille. During the week, the students heard two presenters speak of their first hand experiences in dealing with disabilities. Dee Genetti, mother of sixth grade student Blake Genetti and chairman of Wilmington's Commission on Handicapped Affairs, spoke of her recent blindness and spinal cord injury.

Gloria Evans, Community Education Co-ordinator for Mass. Commission for the Blind, brought her seeing eye golden retriever, Joe, and together they presented information about being blind, in Gloria's case, since the age of two. In both instances, students had ample opportunities to ask questions and to examine some of the tools which make dealing with a disability easier.

Ski club entering 22nd year

The Ski Club, a program designed to teach interested Wilmington students from grade four through 12 to ski, is currently accepting enrollment applications. Students enrolled in this program receive lessons to start or enhance their skiing ability. This year the North will have six busloads of children start the six week program during the first week of January.

Students interested in finding more about this popular program should contact Frank Birmingham at the North Intermediate. The last date to sign up and be guaranteed placement is November 29.

Reviewing a policy – John Doherty, Windy Sweeney and Teri LaBella. missing from this photo are Bill Wooley, Kathy Yarwood and Rich McCarran

Did your insurance agent review your policies with you before automatically renewing them last year? Don't you think that would be a good idea?

Wilmington Insurance does an annual review of every policy. Sometimes coverage is increased, sometimes the coverage is decreased. An experienced insurance agent will recommend the best value for you.

Many times you will receive a letter from one of those "big companies" offering to lower your premiums. What they don't tell you is that they may lower your coverage and leave you under insured. Remember: insurance is only good when it works.

John Doherty of Wilmington Insurance answered this way when asked, "What do you do?" "Protect the client. It's my job. Everyone in the office has been trained to give the best product for the best price. We represent many companies and can compare them to get the vest value."

They protect homes and cars, property and life, boats and even can provide surety bonds. If you need insurance and would like to deal with an agent who knows you, and will remain in the same office for years, call Wilmington Insurance.

One of the services they provide is Free registry service. With two trips to the registry every day you can be assured of getting your new or used car on the road when you want. It's easier with a recent new car to deal with Wilmington Insurance. Your car must be inspected for damage. That can be done here in Wilmington. With other companies you must take your car out of town.

Another great reason for dealing with Wilmington Insurance is your summer (or winter) home in New Hampshire, Maine or Florida can be covered on the same policy as your home here in Mass. No more trips to North Egypt during the week because that insurance agent won't make a weekend appointment.

Weekend appointments? Yes! Of course! And evening, too! Just call 658-3805.

Save money. Insure yourself properly. Call today for a free review.

Creative Beginnings

Six Emily Road, Tewksbury
(508) 658-5431

Through drawing and painting, Mary Jane Marcucci teaches her students to see things in ways they never have before. Why? Because she believes that by highlighting and enhancing an individual's self-expression, you strengthen not only their creative potential, but also their confidence. Once a student gains this confidence, it can be transferred to other life experiences.

Classes at Creative Beginnings are held outdoors whenever possible, to allow students to work from nature. Studio equipment is provided, however students must have their own drawing and painting materials. (Most supplies can be purchased through Creative Beginnings.) Mary Jane gives lessons to both children and adults, and finds it especially rewarding working with special needs students.

Art classes are held on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. Periodic workshops are scheduled on Saturdays or Sundays, and are available to the general public. Classes are reasonably priced, and their limited size insures that all students get plenty of individual attention.

Mary Jane Marcucci works at her easel as her horses look on.

Classes for Children:	Drawing I
	Drawing and Painting
	Painting II (Watercolor)
	Drawing II
Classes for Adults:	Drawing and Painting
	Painting (Individual choice)

All classes begin the week of September 20th, and generally follow the public school vacation schedule throughout the year. They are located in Tewksbury at 6 Emily Road, and in Chelmsford at the Merrimac School, 34 Littleton Road (Rt. 110, 500 yds. from Chelmsford Center).

For more information, or to register for class, call (508) 658-5431.

Ethics in local government

The League of Women Voters of Wilmington will sponsor a Public Forum on "Ethics in Local Government" Tuesday, Nov. 30, 7:30 p.m. in Fourth of July Headquarters across from the town common.

David Emonds, of the Middlesex County District Attorney's office, will present information on the Open Meeting Law and David Hanifin, an attorney with the Legal Division of the Mass. State Ethics Commission, will speak on the state ethics laws.

In keeping with the League's purpose to promote the active and informed participation of citizens in government, the League studies selected governmental issues and sponsors public forums to disseminate information to interested citizens. Ethics in local government is an issue that the League voted to study at its annual meeting earlier this year in order to better understand the requirements of these laws and their effect on the functioning of local government.

Anyone who is interested in learning more about these laws and how they affect local communities is encouraged to attend this important meeting. To obtain additional information about the Forum, contact Martha Stevenson at 658-5488.

Shawsheen Tech Students of the Month

Melissa Gilardi of Wilmington and Joseph Dutile of Billerica, seniors at Shawsheen Tech have been chosen as "Teenagers of the Month" for November, through a program sponsored by the Billerica/ Burlington Lodge of Elks.

Both Joe and Melissa are honor roll students,members of the Tech Skills Honor Society and recipients of citizenship awards, given to students deemed "pleasant to teach."

Melissa Gilardi

Melissa has "wanted to go into cosmetology as long as I can remember," she said. "I knew a lot of people in the field, and they all seemed to enjoy their jobs so much. Melissa was a member of VICA and competed in the district competition as a sophomore. She hopes to begin a part-time or co-op job in her chosen field later this year. Hair cutting and theatrical makeup are her favorite aspects of the field. "They offer creativity and the chance to do something different," she said.

She has been a peer leader since ninth grade. Outside school, Melissa is active in her church, attending meetings about three times a week. She also enjoys reading, dancing, music and going out with friends. Following graduation, she hopes to work in a salon and take college courses in business, working toward he goal of someday owning her own salon.

Joe Dutile

Joe is a plumbing student who has tested his vocational skills on the district and state level in contests sponsored by Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA). He took second place in the district last year and moved on to state competition. He continues to hone his plumbing skills working in the family business. Dutile Pools, through the school's Cooperative Education Program.

Active in school activities, Joe most recently was elected president of the senior class; he also is co-captain of the football team and captain of the swim team and has taken part in both sports since the ninth grade. He is treasurer of the honor society and a three year member of the peer leadership group.

Joe has been interested in Shawsheen since the first grade, notes his mother, Shawsheen school nurse Polly Dutile, when he wrote in his autobiography that he would go to school there. He did follow in the footsteps of four siblings who attended before him, but changed his first choice from electrical to plumbing after completing the career exploratory program. Following graduation, he will work in the plumbing field and attend college to take business courses.

Dan Trainor, Tech guidance counselor who coordinates the awards program, said nominations are made by teachers on the basis of scholastic achievement, vocational ability, character, leadership and community activities.

Wilmington High School Preschool news

During the past few weeks, the children at the Preschool at Wilmington High School have been very busy. They have been learning Thanksgiving songs, poems, and activity stories, as well as helping to cook many different dishes for their Thanksgiving celebration. The children helped to make cornbread, cranberry-orange relish, and apple crisp. They also helped the high school Child Development students mash the potatoes and squash for this special event. The children also decorated mural paper for tablecloths.

Tuesday, Nov. 16, the children's guests arrived for a "Taste of Thanksgiving." Before serving the food, the children performed their songs and poems for their parents and other guests. Their performance was wonderful. The food was enjoyed by all who attended. Each child received a recipe book to keep. The whole day was a great success. Many thanks have been extended to all who helped make this celebration so special for the preschoolers and their guests.

Everybody has their own taste.
Luckily Mahoney's has everything for Christmas.

Everyone has their own idea of how to decorate for the holidays. And no one understands that better than Mahoney's. That's why we offer the most extensive selection of Christmas items in New England.

ORNAMENTS:
From traditional to contemporary to just plain fun, you'll find every style for every budget. Come discover our huge selection of theme tree decorations —up to 30 different themes. Choose from our collection of life-like artificial trees and wreaths, miles of lights and roping, and more. Mahoney's really is your one-stop Christmas Shoppe.

POINSETTIAS:
And don't buy your poinsettias until you've seen ours. Each year we grow over 70,000 in our own local greenhouses. And each year they are the most colorful, longest lasting, best shaped to be found anywhere. Choose from a great selection from $2.50 to $49.98

TREES:
For over 30 years Mahoney's has sold the best selection of fresh, beautifully shaped, fragrant trees in New England—from tabletop to 20 feet tall. Most of them we grow ourselves at our Christmas tree plantation in Nova Scotia. This year's crop is outstanding!
(Sorry, real trees are not available at the Liberty Tree Mall)

Lisa Marie Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Robbins of Wilmington became the bride of Frederick J. O'Connor III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren R. Layne of Tewksbury, in a medieval ceremony, September 26, 1993.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length white medieval style gown with full sweeping train.

The ceremony was performed in the Chapel of All Faiths, Alvern Chapel, Hudson, N.H.

Beth Ann Robbins served her sister as maid of honor while the bride's attendants included Patricia Moynihan, Lori Madden and Diane Toomey, all close friends.

William McCready served as best man while ushering duties were in charge of Kenneth and Keith Layne, brothers of the groom and Todd Lewis, a close friend.

Tracy Doherty weds Martin Surette

Tracy Ann Doherty, daughter of Robert and Rita Doherty of 26 Beacon St., Woburn, became the bride of Martin J. Surette, son of Joseph and Evelyn Surette of Grove Avenue, Wilmington, August 21, 1993.

The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Vivian Burns at Stevens-Coolidge Place in North Andover.

The bride was attired in a Jessica McClintoch ankle length gown of candlelight white, featuring brocade and lace trimming. She carried a cascading bouquet of champagne roses, peach roses and English Ivy. Her veil fell from a hair comb trimmed with the same flower scheme and worn on the back of her head.

Kelly Ann Fay of Woburn, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor in a princess style, tea length Carol Little Cantelope gown featuring a lace bodice. She carried a bouquet of lilies and peach roses.

Erin Fay, of Woburn, niece of the bride and Allison Neal of Brookfield, Ct., niece of the groom served as flower girls while ring bearer was Ryan Fay, of Woburn, nephew of the bride.

Edward Kaizer, close friend of the groom acted as best man.

The bride's mother chose a silk brocade, light mauve, two piece dress while the groom's mother was attired in a two piece dress of bone featuring gold threading and aqua and pale pink water splashed colors.

The new Mrs. Surette is a graduate of Woburn High School and is employed as return control coordinator at Lechmere of Woburn.

Her husband, a graduate of Wilmington High School is employed as a service technician for A.L. Larsen in Boston.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado the couple is now living in Andover.

BABIES BEHIND THE BULKHEAD?
One of the first questions that comes up when planning an airline trip with an infant is where to sit. A popular choice is behind the bulkhead, the partition that separates one part of the cabin from another. Bulkhead seats offer more leg and floor room for restless little ones to play in. They also provide a measure of privacy for the family with children, as well as for fellow travelers on the plane. There are disadvantages to consider, however. Because there are no seats directly in front of bulkhead positions, there is no under-the-seat storage. All carry-on luggage must be stowed in overhead compartments. Also, the arms on some bulkhead seats are fixed nixing the chance of turning the row into a comfy sleeper.
Traveling with an infant or small children can be challenging! And although it's fun to plan your own trip, you can't be expected to know all the ins and outs of care-free travel, like where the best place is to sit on the plane or what special services are available for young passengers. That's where we come in. We're ALL AROUND TRAVEL, and we've got the experience behind us to ensure your successful travel. Before your next adventure, see us at 203 Jefferson Rd., No. Wilmington (Rt. 62), where we're open Mon-Fri 9-5 and after hours by appointment. Ph: 658-2313.
HINT: No matter what row you sit in, the safest way for an infant to travel is strapped into an approved safety seat.

Seniors Lori A. Sarsfield and Bret W. Sheeley have been named "Hats Off" winners for the month of November, by Principal William J. DeGregorio. The recognition program is sponsored jointly by the Tewksbury Rotary Club and Tewksbury Memorial High School (TMHS). The awards were presented to the students at the special Rotary Club luncheon held in their honor at Jerome's Restaurant.

Lori Sarsfield

The daughter of William and Mary Sarsfield, Lori is currently ranked second in her class at TMHS. She was elected to the National Honor Society in her junior year and is taking part in the Peer Tutoring Program for TMHS students offered through that Society. She is also prom coordinator for her senior class.

In May, Lori was selected a winner of the Chancellor's Award for Academic Excellence at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. This $5,000.00 per year tuition payment (for all four years) is in recognition of her academic achievement.

Lori was a member of the Junior Varsity Field Hockey during her sophomore year. The Sports Section for the "Scroll," TMHS's yearbook, is being edited and prepared by Lori. She has donated several hours to "Operation Overcoat" sponsored by the National Honor Society. She has also volunteered her time in the day long blood drive conducted by the Social and Political Action class in conjunction with the American Red Cross.

For the past two years, Lori has worked 25 hours per week as a clerk at Crystal's General Store. She plans to major in pre-law at Cornell University.

Bret Sheeley

The son of Francis and Judith Sheeley, is currently ranked sixth in his senior class at TMHS. He was elected to the National Honor Society (NHS) during his junior year and participates in the N.H.S. Peer Tutoring Program for TMHS students who are experiencing academic difficulty.

Bret is currently studying Pascal at Merrimack College after the completion of his high school day. He has been interested in computer programming throughout his years at TMHS. Last summer he was selected to take part in a special Alternative Learning Educational Program Experience offered by Merrimack College. He is participating in a college course granting him college credit while a senior at TMHS at no cost to Bret and his family.

Three days per week, Bret, along with eight other members of his class, takes part in an Interactive Physics program. These students, through the use of Channels 42 and 43, interact with the physics professor at the University of Massachusetts, Lowell and Lowell college students. He is attending the University of Lowell through Interactive Learning at TMHS.

This year Bret, as a member of Mr. MacDougall's Social and Political Action class, has assisted with the S.P.A. Red Cross Blood drive. He has volunteered his services to work the sideline markers at junior varsity football games. Bret plans to attend either the University of New Hampshire or Merrimack College to major in physics.

Hats Off

Tewksbury Memorial High School students Bret Sheeley (left) and Lori Sarsfield, were honored by the Tewksbury Rotary Club last week with "Hats Off" awards. The students were presented to the club by Senior Guidance Cousellor John Maloy.

The New Freedom Care Value Plan

Health Insurance for Employers with as few as 2 Employees

Freedom Care is an exciting concept in health care. It combines low-cost office visits with the freedom of traditional health insurance programs that employees choose their own doctor.

DON'T BE A TURKEY ABOUT YOUR HEALTH PLAN!

The Freedom Network of hospitals and doctors is extensive. There is a provider for virtually every specialized area of medicine. The network includes 7,000 physicians and 60 hospitals throughout Eastern and Central Massachusetts.

Best of all, there are no claim forms!

The Freedom Care Value Plan is better! Unlike most HMO's, coverage is available anywhere in the world. Outside the network employees simply pay a deductible and co-insurance. The freedom to choose any doctor or hospital sets Freedom Care apart. You are always free to consult a specialist whenever you wish. A referral is never required!

Freedom Care pays up to $2,000,000 per illness or injury. The plan includes features like the PCS Card and a discount eye-wear program. Optional coverages are also available: • Dental, • Weekly Disability and • Dependent Life

Seniors Lori A. Sarsfield and Bret W. Sheeley have been named "Hats Off" winners for the month of November, by Principal William J. DeGregorio. The recognition program is sponsored jointly by the Tewksbury Rotary Club and Tewksbury Memorial High School (TMHS). The awards were presented to the students at the special Rotary Club luncheon held in their honor at Jerome's Restaurant.

Lori Sarsfield

The daughter of William and Mary Sarsfield, Lori is currently ranked second in her class at TMHS. She was elected to the National Honor Society in her junior year and is taking part in the Peer Tutoring Program for TMHS students offered through that Society. She is also prom coordinator for her senior class.

In May, Lori was selected a winner of the Chancellor's Award for Academic Excellence at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. This $5,000.00 per year tuition payment (for all four years) is in recognition of her academic achievement.

Lori was a member of the Junior Varsity Field Hockey during her sophomore year. The Sports Section for the "Scroll," TMHS's yearbook, is being edited and prepared by Lori. She has donated several hours to "Operation Overcoat" sponsored by the National Honor Society. She has also volunteered her time in the day long blood drive conducted by the Social and Political Action class in conjunction with the American Red Cross.

For the past two years, Lori has worked 25 hours per week as a clerk at Crystal's General Store. She plans to major in pre-law at Cornell University.

Bret Sheeley

The son of Francis and Judith Sheeley, is currently ranked sixth in his senior class at TMHS. He was elected to the National Honor Society (NHS) during his junior year and participates in the N.H.S. Peer Tutoring Program for TMHS students who are experiencing academic difficulty.

Bret is currently studying Pascal at Merrimack College after the completion of his high school day. He has been interested in computer programming throughout his years at TMHS. Last summer he was selected to take part in a special Alternative Learning Educational Program Experience offered by Merrimack College. He is participating in a college course granting him college credit while a senior at TMHS at no cost to Bret and his family.

Three days per week, Bret, along with eight other members of his class, takes part in an Interactive Physics program. These students, through the use of Channels 42 and 43, interact with the physics professor at the University of Massachusetts, Lowell and Lowell college students. He is attending the University of Lowell through Interactive Learning at TMHS.

This year Bret, as a member of Mr. MacDougall's Social and Political Action class, has assisted with the S.P.A. Red Cross Blood drive. He has volunteered his services to work the sideline markers at junior varsity football games. Bret plans to attend either the University of New Hampshire or Merrimack College to major in physics.

Hats Off

Tewksbury Memorial High School students Bret Sheeley (left) and Lori Sarsfield, were honored by the Tewksbury Rotary Club last week with "Hats Off" awards. The students were presented to the club by Senior Guidance Cousellor John Maloy.

The New Freedom Care Value Plan
Health Insurance for Employers with as few as 2 Employees

Freedom Care is an exciting concept in health care. It combines low-cost office visits with the freedom of traditional health insurance programs that employees choose their own doctor.

DON'T BE A TURKEY ABOUT YOUR HEALTH PLAN!

The Freedom Network of hospitals and doctors is extensive. There is a provider for virtually every specialized area of medicine. The network includes 7,000 physicians and 60 hospitals throughout Eastern and Central Massachusetts.

Best of all, there are no claim forms!

The Freedom Care Value Plan is better! Unlike most HMO's, coverage is available anywhere in the world. Outside the network employees simply pay a deductible and co-insurance. The freedom to choose any doctor or hospital sets Freedom Care apart. You are always free to consult a specialist whenever you wish. A referral is never required!

Freedom Care pays up to $2,000,000 per illness or injury. The plan includes features like the PCS Card and a discount eye-wear program. Optional coverages are also available: • Dental, • Weekly Disability and • Dependent Life

Thanksgiving Season

A special holiday each year
When Good pours out a harvest of plenty,
A cornucopia of good cheer
A day when sadness and loneliness take
A holiday and joy and happiness are
The order of the day.

A time to count your blessings.
That you have enjoyed throughout the year,
Which have come your way
A time when no one minds when you
Ask for seconds
A day when nature smiles like a Beautiful bouquet.

A heralding in of a new season, autumn gold
The warm weather bidding adieu, ushering
In a blushing cold,
When the sun bathes itself in a
Blanket of clouds
The evening stars become
Mystically enshrouded.
This autumn season ripe with all that grows
Followed by the silvery winter snows.
The sound of a lullaby of the leaves in
The wind whispering low
Their multi colors portraying a majestic glow.

The younger blue skies
Replaced by a gray somber dye
The migrating birds floating
South without delay
Signaling that summer has finally faded away.

A time when we should be thankful for
Our riches that overflow.
As we gather with family and friends we know.
Our thoughts on this day filled with feelings
That run deep
Enriching us and from this the rewards we reap

Yes, the time of year when the weather
Is still okay
On the table sits the turkey and trimming
In glistening array
One final thought, dear friends,
A Happy Thanksgiving to one and all.
On that happy note I will end.

Dancing for a great cause

by Jeff Nazzaro

Tewksbury Memorial High School juniors Kristen Nelson, Tricia Adams and Diana Kondoleon were among the 3,500 people who jammed the Hynes Convention Center in Boston for the Fifth Annual AIDS Dance-a-thon Saturday.

Nelson captained the team of three after learning about the event and its cause at at statewide Student Advisory Council meeting. From there, she organized the eventual Tewksbury High School contingent, which earned $175 towards the $400,000 goal to support the AIDS Action Committee's programs of care, education and advocacy.

"It sounded like a great time, I love to dance," Nelson said, emphasizing that "people need to be more aware about AIDS."

The combination of dancing and raising money towards a worthy cause was a perfect match for Nelson, who has also participated in the Walk for Hunger in Boston the last three years.

Nelson recruited participants from the high school, but felt the $50 minimum pledge total intimidated a lot of people from attending. It did not, however, stop them from donating.

Getting pledges "wasn't hard at all. Everyone's willing to give a dollar or two," said Nelson, who isn't letting the low Tewksbury turnout discourage her. "I'll try to get more people involve next year, she says."

It shouldn't be a hard sell to dance enthusiasts, who this year could choose from four different dance settings, including the popular salsas of the World Beat Room, the country and western of the Two Stepping Room, tangos and fox trots on the Ball Room Dance Floor, with free lessons in the latter two for novices.

The Main Dance floor featured tunes from DJ's and live performers, including Boston dance group "Funky Girls Club."

Christmas concert at UMass-Lowell Dec. 11

New York's Ensemble for Early Music will bring its acclaimed Medieval Christmas spectacle, The Play of St. Nicholas, to UMass, Lowell Saturday, Dec. 11 at 8 p.m. Starting at 7:30, music director Frederick Renz will discuss the performance in a free public preview.

The Play of St. Nicholas, fully staged and lavishly costumed with a company of 25 performers, is a delightful presentation that attracts music, theatre, and holiday audiences alike.

The event is presented by the Center for the Arts at UMass, Lowell and will take place in Durgin Hall on the University's south campus at the corner of Pawtucket and Wilder Streets. Free, lighted parking is nearby.

Stone Zoo Bison exhibit to feature Native American festival

The opening of an all new North American grasslands exhibit at Stone Zoo Saturday, Nov. 27, will unite two of the plains traditional residents - Native American Indians and Bison.

The new exhibit will feature a small herd of American Bison, also known as buffalo, as well as Sand Hill cranes. During the exhibit opening on Saturday, Nov. 27, members of the Greater Lowell Indian Cultural Association will be on hand for a social gathering to help celebrate the opening of the exhibit.

The social will feature native Americans in traditional dress drumming, singing and dancing. There will also be Native American storytelling, children's games and a Native American crafts and artifacts display.

Sanders Lewallen, president and CEO of the Commonwealth Zoological Corporation, which manages the Stone Zoo as well as the Franklin Park Zoo in Boston, said he was, "extremely pleased to have the Greater Lowell Indian Cultural Association participating in the celebration of this exhibit opening."

A major portion of the funding for this new exhibit was raised and donated by Continental Cablevision of Wilmington in cooperation with the Discovery Channel, Continental and the Discovery Channel have become two of the Stone Zoo's most ardent corporate supporters.

In addition to the Bison exhibit, two others will be opened on the 27th. One of the other new exhibits will feature a group of river otters, while the other will feature fishers, a close cousin of the otter that lives in the dense northern forests of New England.

All activities during the exhibit opening are free with regular zoo admission. Call 442-2022.

Artsbus to Museum of Fine Arts, Dec. 4

No American Art Museum has ever staged a major Rubens show until the one now being shown at Boston's Museum of Fine Arts. Not only is it the first big US show about the Antwerp master, but the first in this country to deal with the broader subject of 17th century Flemish painting.

The Wilmington Council for the Arts will sponsor this bus trip to the Boston museum Saturday, Dec. 4, in order that those who wish to view this spectacular might do so without the headache of driving in city traffic. The round trip cost by bus will be $7. This does not cover the cost of admission to the museum.

The bus will leave the Arts Center on Middlesex Avenue promptly at 10 a.m.

Reservations may be made with Edith Michelson at 658-2100 by Wednesday, Dec. 1. Reservations are mandatory. This event is funded in part by the Mass. Cultural Council as administered by the Wilmington Arts Council.

December looks busy

It looks as though Wilmington Senior Citizens will be busy during December. On Sat., Dec. 11, from 10 a.m. to 5 the Senior Fair will be operating at the Buzzell Senior Center. Those who are making articles for the event such as mittens, etc, are reminded that many are needed!

The Fair Committee would appreciate it if items could be taken to the center as soon as possible, allowing committee members to price those left unpriced, etc. Those who can are not only invited, but urged to donate a toy to the toy table. Parents expecting a difficult Christmas this year have been urged to attend the fair to shop and all donated items will be deeply appreciated all-around.

The Christmas gifts table is also in need of more articles as well as the pastry table.

Therapeutic social

Friday, December 10 the Christmas therapeutic social will be held in the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks Hall on South Street, Tewksbury. A roast beef dinner with all the trimmings will be served at 7. Music for dinner and dancing will be provided. Signup for this social will take place Friday, Nov. 26 from 9:30 to 4 p.m. A $4 non-refundable deposit will be required when signing up. Tables will be assigned at that time.

Seniors (Wilmington residents only) are asked to sign up for themselves and/or their spouse. Those unable to go to the center to sign up are urged to call before Friday.

Paralegal

Wednesday, Dec. 1 from 10 a.m. to noon, the paralegal from Elder Legal Service will be at the Senior Center to help those having problems with Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps, SSI, Social Security, elderly abuse (financial, mental or physical) or housing.

Catered holiday dinners

More than 100 catered holiday dinners will be delivered to confined seniors Thursday, Dec. 16. Anyone new in this category should call the director at 657-7595 or 658-2258 to add their name to the list.

Thanks, chief

Seniors are grateful to Police Chief Bobby Stewart for taking time to address last week's commissioners meeting. He advised seniors on the many ways they can protect themselves against the many scams being perpetrated by con people trying to swindle money.

The chief's suggestions included house and driveway repairs etc. He also warned of the dangers of leaving doors and windows unlocked or of opening doors to strangers. He also advised against hiding money or jewels at home.

Incidentally...

A large pin was found at the November 11 therapeutic social in the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks Hall; call 658-8069 and identify...anyone who would like to own a pet parrot is advised to contact the Center; somebody has one they wish to give away.

The Magic Of Gold Jewelry For The Holiday Season

With its glimmer and gleam, real gold - in 14-, 18- or 22 karat – illuminates every fashion ensemble, magically transforming the holidays into a season of enchantment. Pictured here in high karat gold, an alluring choker with a matching bracelet, textured earrings and an intricately detailed ring turn a velvet evening dress into a spell-binding holiday look.

When purchasing gold jewelry for the holiday season, according to the World Gold Council, always buy from a reputable dealer and look for the karat mark and the manufacturer's trademark stamped on each piece.

Another deer season opens Monday

by Bill Conlon

It's that time again, folks. Time to put away the birdshot for two short weeks, and break out the slugs and buckshot. The deer harvest begins on Monday in Massachusetts.

Yes, the word is harvest. Venison is a renewable resource, like corn and hardwood trees, and every year around this time we get to harvest some of the crop.

There's a big distinction that we need to make first. A deer, buck or doe, is a single animal. The herd of deer itself is an entity, like a hive or a corporation. When I go hunting, I am looking for a single deer, and I am prepared to cause said animal an unacceptable level of bodily harm. But I would go to war, willingly, to defend the herd. I'd never harm the herd, but there is a single individual who is in deep kimchi.

Only a portion of the deer herd is in danger, and with 60,000 head of venison bouncing around the fields and forests of the Bay State, maybe one in six will be hanging up by its hoofs come December 11, if Lady Luck smiles upon the folks wearing the blaze orange.

One-sixth of any population may sound like a staggering loss, but not to the herd. Imagine what impact would accrue if every classroom in town was reduced to five kids, out of the original 30. Humanity could not survive such decimation.

But deer can, and do, and will.

Because of their rowdy breeding habits, every doe will be pregnant by Christmas. Guaranteed. Those that are missed will come into heat again every 28 days, and bucks will go to any length to track them down and do the "nasty". Every mature doe, every year.

And each doe will deliver one or two fawns by summer. Twins in deer are very common. The fawns are able to stand on the day of their birth, but they'll hang close to their mother during their first hunting season, learning escape and evasion tactics. Some call these little ones "skippers."

But by their second season, they will be mature enough to wear a set of antlers, and breed. It might only be a spikehorn or a forkhorn, but a set of "legal" antlers nonetheless.

It takes from three to five years to produce a good buck, and longer for a real trophy. A buck that is ten years old is downright venerable, and a real wall-hanger.

Many years ago, deer hunting was nearly uncontrolled. Oh, there was a season, but any deer was a target. In those days, the entire take for the state was under 3,000. Mind you, this was as late as the 1960s, when there was more forest hereabouts. There just weren't any deer. Does, skippers and bucks were all legal, and the deer herd suffered.

(Also, blaze orange was unknown of in those forgotten days. Hunters wore red. Fatalities were far more common, but the legal requirement to wear blaze orange has slashed the number of accidents to almost zero. Let's keep it that way.)

The big change came when the state adopted a rule that only deer with antlers were legal, and that did the trick. The deer herd started to bounce back, and scientists now say there are more deer in this state now than when the Indians had to compete against the wolf for fresh venison. Yep, that many deer now.

And your hunting won't hurt the herd at all. One individual yes, but the herd ... no. The herd will keep on growing, as it has for decades.

Venison, for those sad souls who haven't tried it, is terrific red meat. Deer meat is free of any chemicals, drugs or hormones, organically fed and stress free. You pay top dollar for that sort of beef, but arguably the venison is free. Arguable, since any deer hunter will tell you it ain't cheap by any means. There are the required clothes, weapons, ammo, and license, and those are just the barest necessities. Next are the very near necessities such as food, motel or other lodging, deer scents, poker money, beer money, and money for gas. Oh, and if you get lucky, add another $50 for the Ian the Butcher to do his thing and turn a carcass into steaks and roasts.

Deer meat is not free. Not at all. But it sure is fun to get.

Good luck, and please be very careful out there. The liberal press loves stories about hunters who get shot, so don't give 'em anything.

--- Tackle Box ---

Tewksbury Rod & Gun Club will sponsor a Personal Protection class in firearms handling, November 27 and 28, starting at 9 a.m. at their Chandler Street HQ. The course is limited to 15 people, at $100 a pop, and I've heard they're nearly at the stated capacity. But feel free to call and sign up. I'll bet they'll hold a second class real soon if the demand is high.

Bowhunters (like I'm) may hunt in the shotgun deer season, but they have to follow all the shotgun regs. That means blaze orange vests and hats, and you've gotta put antlers on it. Still, I should have Tewksbury and Wilmington to myself, because there is no discharge of firearms in either town. I plan to park along the road, then walk in with all my blaze orange in a bag and don it in the field. No sense upsetting the neighbors with the sight of blaze orange entering the woods.

Enjoy your long ride out to the Berkshires, fellas. Heh, heh, heh ...

Hunting a Lion

Wildcats Keith Pearlstein (35) and Josh Levesque (24) pursue this Chelmsford Lion in a loss to the MVC power earlier this season in Wilmington.

Listen here

Wilmington High School assistant coach Bob Sciaccia is all business as he talks to the Wildcats during a timeout this season.

Still learning

The Wildcats will be playing close attention to a coaching staff that has led with patience and understanding throughout a sometimes tough season.

Bulls lead league

The Bulls in the Tewksbury Community Education Basketball League have taken over first place with a 4-1 record.

Captain Walter Bacigalupo has a strong team of Bruce Brennan, Bryan Day, Ronald Dokus, Mark Gioia, Wayne Humphrey, David Rugdeti, James Sullivan, Dean Graffeo and Ted Sullivan.

The Knicks are 3-2, the Pistons 2-3 and the Celtics are now 1-4. The league plays its games on Monday nights at the high school.

The men's basketball program will be off to a new start in January. For more information, please contact Tony Romano at 640-9658.

Andersen paces Brandeis

Wilmington's Ann Marie Andersen, captain (senior), defensive halfback, and outstanding player on Babson College's women's field hockey team, contributed to this past successful season (11-7).

The Babson team played in its first-ever ECAC Division III Field Hockey Tournament (they lost to Bowdoin College, 4-0 in the finals on 11/3).

Babson also finished second in the New England Women's Eight Conference Championships, a first in the history of the sport (they lost to nationally ranked Smith College, 1-0 in triple overtime).

Andersen received the All-Conference Award and was named a North and South Senior All-Star, ending up with three goals and three assists.

Heller caps super season

Wilmington native Paige Heller capped off an unbelievable year in goal for the Phillips Academy girls' soccer team by posting her ninth shutout in the New England Prep School Championship final game.

In 80 minutes of regulation play and 10 minutes of overtime, Paige turned away seven shots by a talented Westminster (Simsbury, Ct.) squad.

The championship was decided by a shootout after a 0-0 deadlock at the end of the overtime periods. Phillips Academy won the game, 1-0 and earned their first-ever soccer championship.

Paige earned another shutout in her team's semifinal matchup against Northfield Mount Hermon the day before the Westminster game.

Her performance all season has been close to spectacular. This was her first season on the varsity squad and she rose to the occasion again and again for Phillips. In 16 games, Phillips scored 51 goals and gave up a mere 13. The team's final record was 13-1-2.

Paige is an 11th grader at Phillips. This winter she will captain the ski team. In the spring, she will take her athletic talent to the lacrosse field. Paige is the daughter of Wilmington's Karen and Fred Heller.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?
by Edward H. Wilkens
EXTRA PROTECTION
QUESTION: There are several forms of homeowners insurance. Which form do I have to buy to get coverage for extra living expense if I have a fire in my home?
ANSWER: True, there are several forms of homeowners insurance. Each step up the ladder gives you additional coverage. However, no matter which package you select, you will get the additional living expense coverage. This covers the greater-than-normal cost of temporary housing you may require when a disaster covered by the policy forces you to live in temporary quarters while your home is being repaired or rebuilt. This coverage not only includes housing but transportation, too.

HOMEOWNERS Insurance will pay you for temporary living expenses after a fire.

Soccer boys complete season

The Wilmington II Boys Under 14 Soccer team recently completed a successful first season in the MYSA Youth Soccer Division 2 with a final record of 4-3-1.

The team capped off the season with big wins at Billerica, 2-0 and home against Lincoln, 3-2, while dropping a tough game to first place Winchester, 3-1 with a controversial penalty shot call as the determining factor and splitting two games with Somerville.

In the Billerica shutout, fine goaltending by Earl Burns held Billerica off the board, including stopping a penalty shot. Two clutch goals by John Betts led to the victory. Against Lincoln, Ryan Covino, Buddy Phillips and Justin Vallas led the way, scoring a goal apiece, while Matt Senesi, Matt Coyne, Mike Garbati and Greg Moran played well.

Playing in Somerville, Buddy Phillips, Casey Murphy, Justin Vallas and Matt Kacamburas scored for Wilmington, while T.J. Flynn held out for the shutout in goal, 4-0.

In the Winchester game, Buddy Phillips converted a fine direct kick goal to bring Wilmington back after a penalty shot put Winchester ahead 2-0.

T.J. Flynn in goal nearly stopped the shot by deflecting the ball, but it hit the post and rolled in. The Wildcats continued to press for the tying goal but a late rebound goal by Winchester killed the fine comeback effort of Wilmington.

The team was led by fine defensive play by Josh Michaud, Kevin Riley, Adam Vogel and Chuck Vallas.

Local athletes respect Billerica star

by James Pote

With Billerica having a tradition of having extremely gifted athletes over the years in Tom Glavine along with Garry and Glen DiSarcina, there seems to be another one shortly on his way- Mike Mastrullo.

Mike is currently the quarterback for the undefeated (9-0) Billerica High School football team, who may join the likes of Glavine, etc. some day in either professional baseball or professional football.

"I know I'm not in any way in the same category as those guys, but to be mentioned in the same sentence as them is an honor," said Mastrullo.

Not only is he one of the better quarterbacks in the Merrimack Valley Conference, but is also one of the better baseball players as well.

"I enjoy both sports a lot, however, I've not made up my mind which one I intend to continue playing when I reach college," continued Mastrullo.

Mike has narrowed his school choices down to about five which he would not talk about, however, there is a possibility of a few of them being Division I schools.

The best

Billerica's Mike Mastrullo is arguably the best MVC football player to come down ethe pike since Wilmington High School's Mike Esposito. (photo by Rick Cooke).

Currently, the Billerica High football team is undefeated, and the last time they accomplished that was 1952. However, with their nine game winning streak currently at hand, they have a long way to go against Chelmsford (ranked second in the MVC,) which will be the game of the day come Thanksgiving morning.

"I have a lot of respect for Chelmsford. They have a great coach, and a great quarterback in Jeff Brown. We have lost to them eight straight years, and have beaten them only three times in the past 20. We'll be ready for this one," said Mastrullo.

Mastrullo is comfortably in the lead for the scoring title in the MVC. Not only is he the quarterback, but a safety, a place kicker and a conversion kicker as well.

"Mike is a tremendous worker. He always wants to achieve. He always gives more than 100 percent, his leadership is phenomenal, and he is just relentless when it comes to achieving," explained coach Peter Flynn, who is in his fourth year as coach for BHS.

Before the year started, Billerica was not even supposed to be anywhere near the position they hold now. Experts predicted they would finish third behind Chelmsford and Central Catholic; however Mastrullo feels that definitely fired them up.

"We lost four of our linemen from last year, and I think that is why they predicted us where they did. But, Brian Tucker (LG, LE) and Greg Ianelli (G, T) have stepped up and played outstanding. Their play and the speed of Franklin Shearer has been a major part of our success," continued the senior quarterback.

The Billerica defense has definitely helped, allowing only 21 points through their first seven games, which included the romps over both Wilmington and Tewksbury 28-0 and 33-6, respectively.

"We really didn't play as well as we could have against Tewksbury. They have a great quarterback (Chris Snow). He moved the ball very well, but our defense didn't play as well as it has been all year. As for Wilmington, we were all banged up after the game. They are a tough team who never gives up," said Mastrullo.

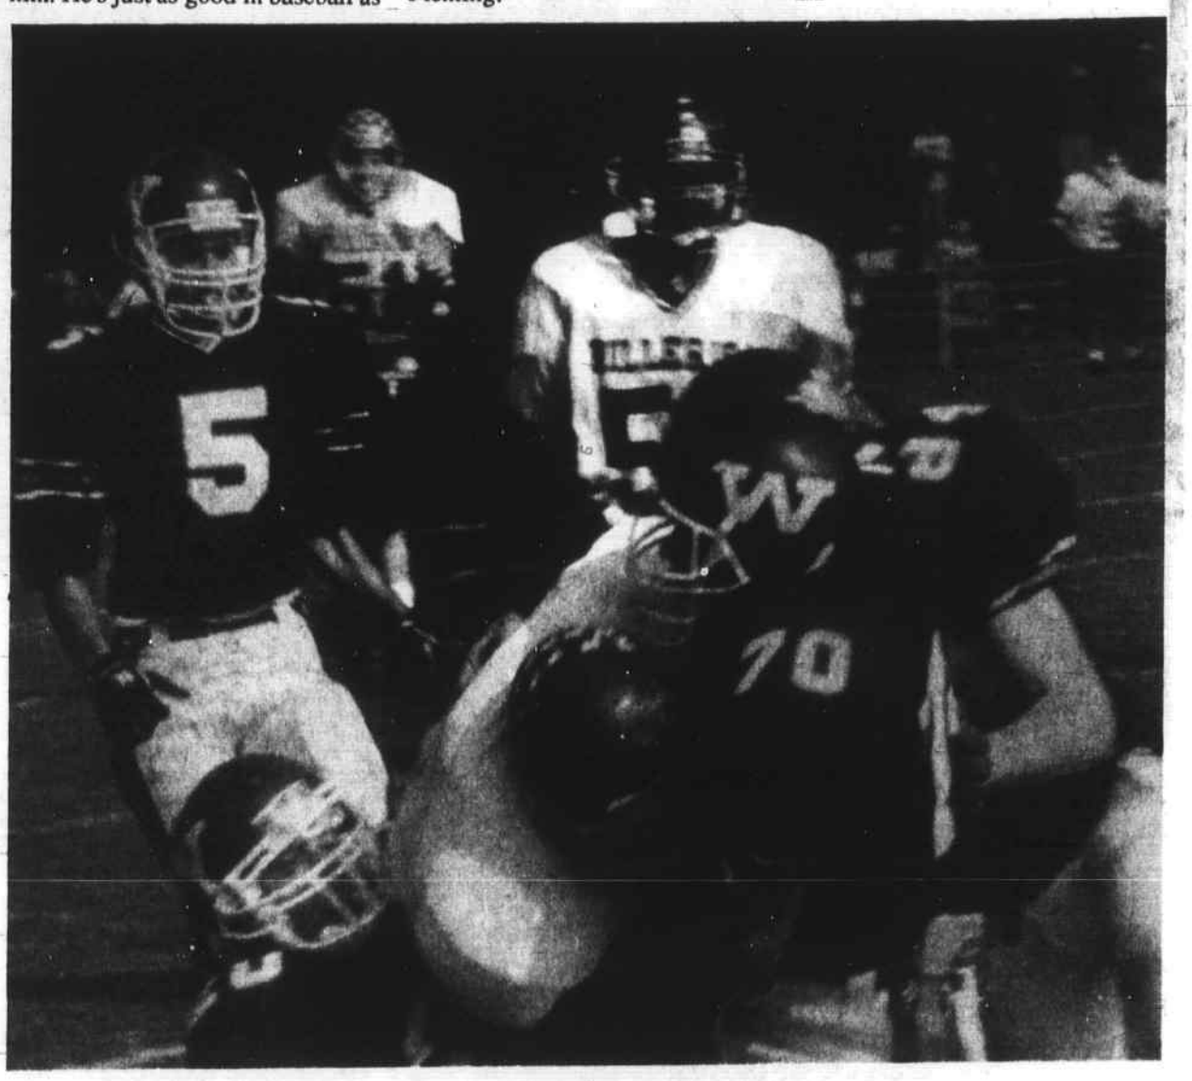

Not only is Mastrullo recognized by other coaches and college scouts, but he very recognized by other players from around the Merrimack Valley Conference.

"He's a complete, incredible athlete, I've never seen anyone like him. He's just as good in baseball as he is in football. He is just an incredible athlete", said Tewksbury High School quarterback Chris Snow.

"He's a great player as well as a great quarterback," said one of Wilmington's co-captains, Dave Fleming.

There is only one more thing Mike Mastrullo really wants. To win the Super Bowl.

"If we concentrate and stay focused, we can do it," offers the Billerica star.

Wildcats swarm

Wildcat defenders Phil Ritucci (5) and Dave Maglio (70) hope to hog-tie the Redmen Thursday morning at Tewksbury.

Woburn Street School teachers receive grant

The Whole Language Teachers Association (WLTA) recently awarded a Teacher Study Group Grant to the Woburn Street School for their grant proposal, Expanding Whole Language/ Experience Teaching. Ms. Anne Field, a kindergarten teacher at the Woburn Street School, prepared and submitted a proposal to the WLTA.

The focus of the teacher study group will be to meet monthly to share ideas and discuss relevant issues and concern around the Whole Language philosophy. The teachers will be using the book, "Whole Language: Getting Started...Moving Forward" written by Linda Crafton as a catalyst for these discussion sessions. The teachers plan to share their findings at the May 4,1994 teacher inservice day for the Wilmington School System.

The Woburn Street School staff participating in this exciting opportunity are: Mary Ann Ablove, Sandra Arceiro, Christine Bucuvalas, Jean Burke, Kathleen Conway, Patricia Coffill, Sheryl Everett-Mosca, Anne Field, Esther Marshall, Ann Mulak, Lucia S. Proia, Jane Welch, and Barbara Beaucher.

Financial aid workshop at Tewksbury High Dec 14

The Tewksbury Public Schools will present a Financial Aid Workshop for students in grades 10 through 12 who are planning to attend two and four year colleges following graduation and for their parents. This program will take place Tuesday, Dec. 14 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the auditorium of Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Keynote presenters include Walter Costello, financial aid director at the University of Lowell and Carol Closson, branch manager of the Citizens Bank of Massachusetts. Mr. Costello will provide detailed information on the financial aid process, explain which forms to fill out and when, and discuss any changes in the process and timelines for completing and filing the FAF and FAFSA forms. Ms. Closson will provide information on the types of loans available for funding higher education costs, the borrowing process, and the expected repayment of loans.

The decision to attend a two or four year college after high school graduation represents a significant financial commitment on the part of parents and students. Students and their parents are encouraged to participate in this financial aid workshop to receive information useful in meeting that financial commitment.

For more information, call the high school guidance office at 851-3771 or Dr. Michele DeAngelis, director of student services at 851-3772.

A Prayer to the Blessed Virgin
(Never found to fail)

O Most beautiful Flower of Mount Carmel, Fruitful Vine, Splendour of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this my necessity. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother.

O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart, to succour me in this necessity; there are none that can withstand your power.

O, show me herein you are my Mother. O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to Thee. (3 times)

Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands. (3 times)

Say for 3 consecutive days and publish.

God Bless

DINNER TIME - Ray Magliozzi, of Seven Acres Farm in North Reading, rounds-up this plump 35-pound turkey that will soon become somebody's Thanksgiving dinner. (Don Young photo)

88 year old turkey farmer Ray Magliozzi

I've turned away 200 people

By KEN MAGUIRE

Ray Magliozzi says his turkeys seem to make a little more noise than usual around this time each year. And who can blame them. If you were about to become dinner for 10, you might speak up too.

Ray and his Seven Acres turkey farm have been North Reading fixtures for the last 55 years. He sold out of turkeys again this year.

"The demand is terrific," 88-year-old Ray Sr. says from his slaughterhouse located just behind his Concord Street home. "I've probably turned away 200 people for turkeys. We turn people away by the ton."

Watching 50 or so turkeys being herded from the open-air barn to the slaughterhouse pen this weekend, Ray discussed his family business that he started back in 1938, and his thoughts on turkeys in general.

"I hope they don't know (that they're about to be killed)," Ray said. "They do make a lot of noise this time of year. They're very smart. It's people who are stupid."

One of only three family-operated turkey farms in eastern Massachusetts, Seven Acres sells about 3,000 turkeys annually. Ray is semi-retired and Ray Jr. is now the owner. They sell only retail and stress that the quality of their bird is the key.

Seven Acres turkeys run about .25 cents more per pound than the average supermarket turkey, but no one seems to mind. Customers from as far away as Vermont make annual journeys to the Magliozzi farm for their White Holland birds.

"One man from Wakefield came back this year for his thirty-ninth turkey," Ray said. "They come from everywhere. The demand for fresh turkey is so great today."

Despite the heavy demand for his birds, Magliozzi says he will not be expanding anytime in the near future. He does not want to reach the point where the operation is beyond control. His reasoning was solidified recently after speaking to a friend who owns a large-scale turkey farm in eastern Mass.

"'I wish we were your size,' he told me," Ray explains. "We don't intend to get too big. It takes away from the business. I've seen it happen in too many places."

Today, Seven Acres has about 3,000 turkeys, 3,000 chickens, and 2,000 capons. In addition to the birds, they sell various turkey products: smoked turkey; turkey bacon; turkey kielbasa; turkey pies; and other items. The numbers are way up from the old days.

Back in the early 1940s, Ray was selling about 300 turkeys per year. And that was when Seven Acres farm really was seven acres. Today, after the purchase of a neighbor's home and 11 acres of land, the farm consists of 18 acres.

People told Ray he was crazy to pay what he did for his home back in the late 1930s. It was a California-style bungalow house and it carried a price tag of $3,500, which most people in town considered outrageous. He proved them wrong then, and there was more to come.

The dairy farmers in the area snickered at the thought of a turkey farm, but Magliozzi beat the odds again. The dairy farms eventually went out of business because of space limitations. Turkey farms do not need the kind of space dairy farms do. And in crowded eastern Massachusetts, acreage is cherished.

At his age, Ray is as fiery and colorful as ever. Although he is semi-retired, don't look for him to flock to Florida anytime soon.

"Down South? I'm 88 and I'm still here," barks Magliozzi with pride. "I don't intend to go nowhere. Just North Reading. This is the healthiest place in the world. With all these green trees around us. For cripes sake, look at all the oxygen we have here!

"What the hell do they have down there, a lot of sand?," Ray continued. "Can you inhale sand? That's what they do. They go down there and die, the poor guys. I'm an old Yankee anyway. My father came here in 1854 from Italy. He was probably the first Italian to ever come to this country."

Magliozzi is a strong family man, and employs only family members. The busiest time, of course, is just before Thanksgiving. Seven relatives are busy in the slaughterhouse for "kill week" as it is commonly called at Seven Acres. About 1,500 birds are prepared for the dinner table during kill week.

The "Susan" trio also contributes to the success of Seven Acres farm. Ray's wife Susan, daughter Susan, and daughter-in-law Susan all help keep things running smoothly.

In the old days, the family pride was the same, but other things were much different.

About The Towns
by Phyllis Nissen

Stoneham lights up

MELROSE RELEASES NEWS FROM THE HOOD - After five months of controversy, Melrose aldermen have voted to fund the position of Mt. Hood Park superintendent until next June, and the city has begun advertising for a superintendent.

For the next three years, a private company will manage the Mt. Hood golf course but because money for the park superintendent ($26,000 for the remainder of this fiscal year) comes from the Mt. Hood Park Trust Fund, the new employee may do work related only to Mt. Hood. Beginning in March, the superintendent will monitor the daily income generated by the new Mt. Hood Golf Management Team.

It's a case of government acting like business, and being held accountable.

According to Melrose Mayor Richard Lyons, the new superintendent - who will replace current manager Bill Flynn in March - will have the following on his plate: following up on whether Flynn completed this year's $15,000 worth of improvements as required in his 10-year agreement with the city; addressing maintenance issues including the roofs of the Mt. Hood garages; setting up an accounting system; and possibly dredging the ponds.

He or she will also study conservation issues and help the city choose an outside auditor.

After June, the park superintendent's salary will come from the Mt. Hood receipts and the city budget.

Having studied community needs, the Field Committee decided that because of overuse of Winchester's playing fields and the inability to rest a field, expansion was necessary.

Opponents of the Lynch Field expansion charged that: it is being done as the first step in building a private soccer complex; increased traffic would cause congestion and safety problems; and the new fields would destroy a former well field.

Proponents fielded those arguments with the following: a traffic study and parking plan should effectively deal with the expected increase in area use; and because all remnants of well field equipment were removed long ago, the town engineer favors the expansion.

STONEHAM PLANS TO LIGHT UP - The Stoneham Holiday Committee - in conjunction with Chamber of Commerce members, businesses, citizens, and the Stoneham Community Development Corporation - is hoping to fund something new for December: holiday banners.

If every household contributed $1, according to Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Pat Kilty, the committee could easily reach its $5,000 goal and Stoneham would be a brighter place for it.

For the last few years, Stoneham has been making an effort - through appeals to retailers, service and professional firms, industry and citizens - to expand and improve holiday lights and programs.

Donations in any amount are "joyfully" accepted. Send checks - made out to the Stoneham Chamber of Commerce - to the SCC Holiday Fund, P.O. Box 266, Stoneham, MA 02180.

WINCHESTER WEEDS ITS WAY FORWARD - Although it generated "the only real controversy" of the more than dozen committee recommendations, Winchester's Lynch playfield expansion project was "handily" approved by Town Meeting and has begun.

WILMINGTON HOLDS OFF ON SWEETHEART DEAL - At the urging of Representative James Miceli, the MBTA Board of Directors has decided not to convey a permanent easement to International Paper until an agreement suitable to the Town of Wilmington is reached.

Seeking to move into the now automated Sweetheart Plastics warehouse which is located behind Charlie's Autobody on Main Street in Wilmington and employs 15 people, International Paper could employ between 200 to 300 people, resulting in increased truck traffic and the request for an easement.

The MBTA runs commuter trains every hour as well as Boston and Maine freight trains on the tracks near the facility. According to the proposal, International Paper would control the traffic with privately hired security officers.

Miceli would prefer experienced police and a community plan.

Stone Zoo exhibit

STONEHAM - The opening of an all new North American Grasslands exhibit at Stone Zoo on Saturday, Nov. 27, will unite two of the plains traditional residents - Native American Indians and Bison.

The new North American Grasslands exhibit will be funded by a $13,500 donation by Continental Cablevision and the Discovery Channel during Continental Cablevision's annual fundraising campaign on behalf of Stone Zoo.

The exhibit will feature a small herd of American Bison, also known as Buffalo, as well as Sand Hill Cranes. During the opening ceremonies on Saturday, Nov. 27, members of the Greater Lowell Indian Cultural Association will host a Social Gathering to celebrate the opening of this exhibit.

The Social will feature Native Americans in traditional dress - drumming, singing, and dancing. There will also be Native American storytelling, children's games and artifacts display.

Sanders Lewallen, President and CEO of the Commonwealth Zoological Corporation, which manages the Stone Zoo and Franklin Park Zoo in Boston, said he was, "extremely pleased to have the Greater Lowell Indian Cultural Association participating in the celebration of this opening of this exhibit.

Given the deep, history interconnection between Native Americans and the American Bison it seems more appropriate that members of the GLICA should be included in the festivities marking the opening of this new exhibit," Lewallen said.

The North American Grasslands exhibit marks the third exhibit opened or renovated by direct donations by Continental Cablevision and the Discovery Channel. Since the Stone Zoo's reopening in June 1992, Continental and Discovery have been the Stone Zoo's most ardent corporate supporters.

Their donations have funded the South American Grasslands exhibit and the renovation of the indoor aviary.

In addition to the bison exhibit, two other exhibits will open on Nov. 27. One exhibit will feature a group of five river otters, while the other exhibit will feature fishers, a close cousin of the otters found in the dense forests of New England.

All activities during the exhibit opening are free with regular zoo admission.

Let's Talk Turkey From S-1

"In those days very few people raised turkeys," Ray explained. "It was very different to raise them."

Back then, Magliozzi remembers hand-picking the birds for customers. But today, it's more of a business and the demand is great. Ray said there was a time when no one knew anything about his business.

"I used to do a show for Channel 4," he recalled. "I went into their studios. I had live turkeys in there with grain and everything. That was when there weren't too many people around and they didn't know too much about it."

It is a different story today. Supermarkets battle turkey farms for customers, and low priced frozen birds helped put many small farms out of business. Customers faithful to freshness, however, continue to buy from the farms, Magliozzi points out.

Last year, just over 140,000 turkeys were raised in Massachusetts. The number is up slightly from 1992, with a total estimated value of about $3.3 million statewide, according to the Massachusetts Turkey Growers Association.

Magliozzi does not breed his turkeys. Instead he buys them immediately after birth from a New Hampshire breeder. He said they are raised on an all-natural soybean diet and killed at about 20 weeks of age.

"They're very tender," he explained. "You don't let the birds get too old."

And even at the age of 88, the head of the Magliozzi household is making sure the birds don't get too old.

Immigrant Learning Center celebrates

On November 9, The Immigrant Learning Center, Inc. of Malden, a non-profit adult learning center, completed its first year of providing free intensive English As A Second Language classes to foreign born adults. There have been many changes and accomplishments.

From initially offering three classes of ESL to 60 adults, the ILC has grown to providing classes to 130 adults at any given time. Course offerings now include five levels of ESL classes, literacy instruction, citizenship preparation, GED preparation and TOEFL preparation. Classes meet 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday through Friday and 12:30 to 3 p.m., Monday through Thursday. The staff has grown from three to five teachers.

Over the course of the year almost 600 immigrants and refugees have registered. To date, the ILC has helped 265 individuals from 34 countries including the former USSR, Southeast Asia, China, Africa, Haiti, South America, the Middle East and Europe.

The school has drawn students from over 25 surrounding communities. Graduates have found jobs or gone on to training programs and colleges or universities. Students have written to President Clinton, published a newsletter, put together books of student writings, and 20 student writings were selected to appear in the literacy journal, Four Winds, published by the state of Massachusetts.

The primary goal of the ILC is to provide foreign born adults with enough knowledge of the English language to find jobs, progress to more advanced studies or training programs, and to help each person fulfill his/her own objectives. The ILC places no restrictions on the students who can attend and all classes are free. Enrollment is in order of application, first come, first served. Prospective students are encouraged to come in and register between 9:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The center admits students of any race, color, and national or ethnic origin. Tax deductible donations from the community or students are welcome.

Melrose-Wakefield enhances psychiatric services

To enhance the psychiatric care provided in the community and to ensure the comfort and well being of hospital patients, Melrose-Wakefield Hospital recently completed the renovation of its psychiatric inpatient service, located on the sixth floor of the hospital. New clinical approaches to the treatment of patients with psychiatric disorders have prompted the natural, appropriate evolution of the psychiatric services provided by the hospital.

"The renovation of our psychiatric area provides the most up-to-date approach to psychiatric care, offering a 14-bed inpatient unit, a six-bed crisis respite unit and a partial hospitalization program. These services complement our outpatient psychiatric and substance abuse programs to offer a spectrum of comprehensive psychiatric care," says Richard S. Quinlan, MWH president and chief executive officer.

Inpatient care provides 24-hour treatment and monitoring for patients with very acute psychiatric and substance abuse disorders. The Partial Hospitalization program offers a shorter stay, in which they are at the hospital during the day for treatment but return home overnight. One of the focuses of the partial hospitalization program is that patients learn to identify early symptoms of a psychiatric concern to help prevent or shorten inpatient hospitalization.

The respite care program, designed to offer patients and their families an alternative living environment with structured daily treatment and monitoring, provides a brief stay in a nonacute setting. The program is for patients age 17 and older.

These new psychiatric programs complement several existing outpatient services at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital. The Partnership Recovery Center serves patients with substance abuse and addictions who are undergoing or recently completed a detoxification program and are in need of support. The Outpatient Counseling Center provides individual, group and family treatment for various psychiatric needs, such as family or marriage counseling, depression and other life crises. The Center also provides a Memory Assessment program designed to assess neurological symptoms of various psychiatric medical disorders.

"This comprehensive approach to psychiatric care provides the most appropriate care to nearly all individuals experiencing a psychiatric crisis," says Quinlan.

National Hospice month

If volunteers from Hospice Care, Inc. have their way, everyone would hear about hospice, a special kind of care for terminally ill people as November is observed nationwide as National Hospice Month.

"Terminal illness is not a pleasant subject to discuss," said Sheila Scott, executive director of Hospice Care, Inc., "and a lot of people don't know that something called Hospice even exists or what it can offer. Yet Hospice has been caring for the people in the area northwest of Boston since 1981.

The goal of Hospice is to enable the dying to enjoy the best possible quality of life until their last moments, pain-free, surrounded by friends and family, and at home or in a home-like setting.

This November Hospice Care, Inc. volunteers and staff hope to involve partners from the media, business and other organizations to raise awareness of Hospice and its important role in the community.

For more information about the Hospice Concept of Care, contact Mollie Reinhart at (617) 648-3172.

POLYMNIA HOLIDAY CONCERT DEC. 3 & 4

The Polymnia Choral Society of Melrose presents its annual Holiday concert on Friday evening, December 3 at 8 p.m. and Saturday, December 4 at 3:30 p.m. at the First Congregational Church, 121 W. Foster St., Melrose.

James E. Reyes is the Music Director. They will perform Gian-Carlo Monetti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors," Schubert's "Magnificat," and a variety of carols. Tickets are $8 at the door for adults ($7/advance); seniors and students, $5. For more information or to reserve tickets, call (617) 284-2430.

URGENT APPEAL FOR ADOPTIVE HOMES

Adoptive children and families will join Department of Social Services Commissioner Linda K. Carlist and local community leaders on November 30 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Lawrence Heritage State Park Visitor's Center, 3rd floor Community Room, One Jackson St., for an Open House sponsored by DSS Northeast Adoption Family Resource Unit.

November is National Adoption Month. There are currently 4600 children in the custody of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts who are in need of permanent adoptive homes. Since Commissioner Carlisle's appointment in January, she has targeted adoption as a critical priority.

"Every child deserves a loving, permanent home. DSS can't do the job alone. We need help from the community," said Commissioner Carlisle.

The Open House will serve as a celebration of National Adoption Month and is part of DSS' statewide campaign to recruit adoptive families and generate awareness about children who wait for homes.

HOLLY FESTIVAL & CRAFT FAIR

On Saturday, December 4th, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., the Most Blessed Sacrament Guild will hold its Festival in the Church hall at 1155 Main St., Wakefield.

The festivities will begin with coffee and donuts purchased from Kris Kringle's Kitchen. They will have a raffle of Bruins tickets (Loge section), afghans and many other raffles.

Gifts of all sorts can be found on the hand made table, apron table and hand-made mitten table, Santa's surplus, Christmas greenery, bake table, children's table, candy table, even a white elephant table with all kinds of paraphernalia.

Finish shopping with a lobster roll, chowder, pizza, hot dogs, sausage and peppers, even peanut butter and jelly for the young at heart. Bring the children to have a picture taken with Santa Claus between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

READING CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERT

The Reading Choral Society invites families in surrounding communities to join them on Sunday evening, December 5th, at 7 p.m., when they will present their annual Christmas Concert in the sanctuary of the Old South United Methodist Church in Reading Square.

In addition to traditional Christmas music, their program will also include selections by modern composers as well as songs celebrating Hanukkah and the winter season.

The group of 30 singers is under the direction of Jane McKenzie, well-known music teacher and director in the Reading area. Accompanist is Wendell Hodgkins, choir director and organist at Old South.

Guest artist will be Jaime Jamgochian, a senior at Reading Memorial High School, where she has been active in the marching band and other music programs. This past summer she studied at Berklee College of Music on a full scholarship. A gifted pianist, singer and composer, Jamie's program will include two of her own compositions.

There is no admission charge. Each year the Society presents a music scholarship through the Reading Scholarship Foundation: a free-will offering will be taken for anyone wishing to contribute to this fund.

CHORAL FESTIVAL IN NO. READING

The New England Classical Singers, under the direction of conductor David Tierney, will present a Christmas Choral Festival on Saturday, December 4, at 8 p.m. at the Church of St. Theresa, 63 Winter St. (Rte. 62), North Reading.

The singers, accompanied by the Pythagorean Festival Orchestra, will perform Handel's Dettingen Te Deum and a diverse selection of classical Christmas songs and traditional carols.

Tickets are $10 for general admission, $6 for seniors and students, and are available at the Andover Book Store in Andover, Carr's Stationers in North Reading, Annie's Book Stop in North Andover, or by calling (508) 688-2816.

JINGLE BELL WALK FOR ARTHRITIS

On Saturday, December 4, hundreds of Merrimack Valley residents will be lacing Jingle Bells to their shoes and taking part in the Jingle Bell Walk for Arthritis.

The walk begins at 10:30 a.m. at the Lowell Lodge of Elks. The 3.1/5K route will wind through the neighborhoods with many stops along the way treating participants to cider, hot chocolate, pizza, caroling and other holiday goodies.

Fourteen year old Amy-Lee O'Brien will once again lead off the walk with Santa. Amy-Lee was diagnosed with Juvenile Rheumatoid Arthritis (JRA) at age 4 after falling at school. Although she enjoys most of the same things as other 14 year olds, she cannot participate in many physical activities because of joint restriction, stiffness and pain.

At the end of the route (Lowell Lodge of Elks,) there will be hot dogs, more holiday goodies, entertainment and even more pampering for those sore feet. Prizes will be awarded for the top individual fund raiser and costume prizes.

Amy-Lee and The Arthritis Foundation's goal is to make people aware that arthritis shows no respect for age. Come join the fun and help to raise dollars to fight arthritis. For more information call 1-800-766-9449.

RED CROSS TO HELP NEEDY FAMILIES

With the holidays fast approaching, the American Red Cross is again planning to help needy families in local communities this Holiday Season.

Last year through the generosity of many people who contributed to the Holiday Assistance Program, over 240 families received assistance at Thanksgiving and Christmas. This year, due to the continuing status of the economy, even more requests are anticipated.

Persons may help by sending a check made payable to "The American Red Cross - Holiday Assistance." All donations will be used to provide food for clients who are struggling to care for their families during these difficult times.

Send all contributions to the local Red Cross office at 786 Main Street, Melrose, MA 02176.

SUICIDE AND THE HOLIDAYS

The Center For Addictive Behaviors' Professional Training Series continues on Wednesday, December 1 with the workshop "Suicide and the Holidays," led by Robert E. Francis, Ed.M., Chairperson of the Behavioral Sciences Department at North Shore Community College. The workshop will be held at Beverly Hospital's Women's Health and Medical Arts Center from 12 noon to 1 p.m.

The seminar will focus on verbal clues and behavioral

HANDEL'S MESSIAH AT BOSTON UNIVERSITY

On December 3rd, at 8 p.m. in Boston University's Marsh Chapel at 735 Commonwealth Ave., a concert will be performed by the Marsh Chapel Choir and the Marsh Chapel Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Julian James Wachner, Chapel Choirmaster and Music Director.

Soloists will be Anne Harley, soprano; Michele Conrad, mezzo-soprano; Todd Miller, tenor; and Steven Salters, baritone.

The Marsh Chapel Choir consists of 30 members who come from a wide variety of cultural, religious and musical backgrounds. The Choir performs regularly at religious services and functions, provides a concert series to the university community, and can be heard on the weekly broadcast of the Boston University Sunday Service of Worship over WBUR 90.9 FM radio.

Tickets are $10; $5 for students and seniors, and are available on the night of the performance or prior to the concert at Marsh Chapel. Handicapped Accessible. For more information call (617) 353-3560.

SHOW HIGHLIGHTS 25 CONTEMPORARY QUILTS

"Celebrations of the Season," an exhibition of 25 contemporary quilts by New England quilt artists, opened on Saturday, November 20 at the New England Quilt Museum, 18 Shattuck Street, Lowell. The quilts will be on display through Sunday, January 2. Admission is $3. For information, please call (508) 452-4207.

The exhibition presents a range of quilt types including memory, landscape and celebration quilts. All are contemporary quilts made over the past 15 years by quilters from each of the six New England states using innovative approaches to traditional quilt patterns as well as original quilt designs.

In conjunction with this show, the New England Quilt Museum presents Ornament Day on Sunday, December 5 from 1 to 3 p.m. Learn to make quilt ornaments. Free with museum admission; supplies will be provided.

GUEST ARTIST TO SPEAK

Painter Gwen Strahle, a faculty member at the Rhode Island School of Design, will present a public lecture at Montserrat College of Art, Dunham Road, Beverly, on Monday, November 29 from 11:20 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. as part of the college's biweekly Monday Lecture Series.

Strahle's work is included in the current Montserrat Gallery exhibit "Objects and Everyday Life." Admission is free. The college is located behind the North Shore Music Theatre, exit 19 off Route 128.

VOLUNTEERS/ DRIVERS NEEDED

The American Red Cross of Massachusetts Bay-North Area needs additional volunteer drivers to transport clients to medical appointments. It is especially difficult to find people to drive into Boston, although that is the greatest need.

Drivers may volunteer weekly or monthly on a particular day, or simply be "on call." Vehicles are provided at both the Peabody and Melrose offices.

The American Red Cross strives to provide services which cannot be provided by other local agencies. The Transportation Program supplements the local rides that many Councils On Aging offer by taking clients outside of the community and into Boston. However; many volunteers are needed to maintain this program.

Anyone who can donate a day or two to help others get to their important medical appointments, please call the Volunteer Office at (508) 531-2280 or (617) 665-1351.

BREATHLESS ASTHMA AND ALLERGY NETWORK

On December 2, Breathless, Inc., a Non-profit Organization for Asthma and Allergy, will hold the second in an eight-part monthly lecture series focusing on the current treatment of allergy and asthma. The lecture on "The Clinical Approach to Asthma" will be held at the Haverhill Public Library from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Geared toward health professionals, the series will focus on the critical role that school nurses and other health professionals play in educating and caring for asthma and allergy patients. In addition, the lectures will help professionals to develop correct assessment and care procedures based on guidelines set forth by the National Institute of Health.

This free lecture series is directed by Dr. Mark Windt, M.D., Pulmonary, Allergy and Immunology. Pre-registration is necessary. To register, call Breathless at (508) 372-ASMA, or Dr. Windt's office at (603) 926-2414.

ARTS LEXINGTON'S HOLIDAY WEEKEND

On Friday, December 3, Arts Lexington's Young Children's Theatre Group under the direction of Steve Yakutis will perform at Cary Memorial Hall in Lexington. They will present "Keeping Warmth in a Bag," a seasonal play based on a Native American folk tale. Following the play, the Dance Inn's Legacy Dance Company will perform.

Young Children's Theatre begins at 5:30 p.m.; Legacy performs at 6 p.m. Admission is free. After the show, The Chamber of Commerce will hold a Lighting of the Lights at Depot Square at 7 p.m.

BUNKER HILL OPEN HOUSE

Open Houses will be held on Wednesday, December 1 at both the Charlestown and Chelsea campuses of Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC) of Boston.

The Charlestown campus will hold a session from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and the Chelsea campus will have two sessions; 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4 to 6 p.m.

Visitors will be able to obtain information on financial aid, various education opportunities, career upgrade and short term certificates.

BHCC offers day classes, starting at 7 a.m., as well as late afternoon, evening and weekend sessions.

For information, call (617) 241-8600, Ext. 205, 239 and 341 in Charlestown and (617) 889-5110 in Chelsea.

Londonderry Faire in Woburn

Thanksgiving weekend is the traditional time of year for the Christmas season to begin. This year is no exception as one of the traditional events of the season continues in the Greater Boston area, the 19th Annual Londonderry Faire.

Londonderry Fairs has been named as one of the Best 200 art and crafts shows in the United States and ranked number 49 in the 100 Best Traditional Crafts Show Events according to Sunshine Artist magazine in the September 1993 issue.

Londonderry Faire is one of Massachusetts' most spectacular Christmas art and craft shows featuring 325 professional artists and craftsmen from all over the United States. Professional artists and craftsmen will be coming from all the New England states and from as far away as Utah, Texas and Florida.

The show opens at the Northeast Trade Center in Woburn on Friday, November 26, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, November 27, the hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The public will find all kinds of original handcrafted gifts made by American artists and craftsmen.

Londonderry Faire's success all these years can be attributed to bringing the highest quality professional art and craft show to the public.

Many local professional craftsmen will be at the Londonderry Faire such as bird carver Gary Avadanian of Reading; basket maker Sharlene Tessler of Marlboro; gold and silversmith Robert Handel of Rockport and pottery by Jim Trudeau of Gloucester. Other crafts that will be on display are stained glass, toys, photography, sculpture, calligraphy, flags and banners, personalized gifts and much more.

Londonderry Faire caters to those who shop for one of a kind gifts and for those who find it difficult to buy American handcrafted items. The Northeast Trade Center in Woburn is located on Route 128 at exit 35. Children 12 and under are free with an adult.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

There are perhaps hundreds, yes, even thousands of people in the Middlesex East area who could be the subject of "Profiles in Courage" articles. They are people who admirably "carry on" daily, in spite of physical or mental handicaps that would discourage and subdue some people's "get up and go" attitudes.

I recall the "Profiles in Courage" book written about John F. Kennedy. He suffered sometimes excruciating back pains attributed to injuries received when he was Skipper of P.T.109, when it was struck by a Japanese Destroyer in World War II.

About ten years ago, I wrote in Woodchips a local "Profile in Courage" chip about Julie Stedman from Wilmington. She, along with Larz Fredrick Neilson (of the Wilmington/ Tewskbury Town Crier), traveled to Wyoming to compete in the National One Legged Ski Championship. (Note, both Julie and Fred unfortunately lost a leg). Julie won in the National Competition.

In this week's Woodchips I am happy to congratulate Mary Anne and Debbie Steen of Wilmington who were both honored at an assembly in the Woburn Street School recently. They were winners in a Crayola Dreammaker's art contest. The subject for the contest was a self-portrait, without the use of mirrors. Debbie and Mary Anne (both second graders), indeed "Profiles in Courage," have been blind since birth. I salute their Principal Kate Conway and their Art teacher Marie Shack. I thank the Town Crier for this information.

PERSONALITY WINNERS: Mary Ann and Debbie Steen, Woburn Street School Principal Kate Conway, art teacher Marie Shack, Paul and Mary Brennan and Neil and Rita Woodside, all of WILMINGTON; Bernadette Pacini LeMay, Linda Ciampolillo, Marie Adinofli, Chris Barnoth and Jeannie Purtell, all of TEWKSBURY; Swim Coach Lois Margeson, Co-captains Jennifer Mass and Kerrin McDonald, Rev. Prousalis, Cara Dwyer, Coach Maureen Serrecchia, all of WAKEFIELD; Marine Lance Cpl. Christopher N. Hannigan, Barbara Morash, Scoutmaster Michael Neri, Mark Vaughan and Fire Captain Joseph Rolli, all of STONEHAM; Kristen Melanson, James T. Nadolny, Tanuj Raja, Kristin N. Simmons and Jason B. Smith, all of BURLINGTON.

Also, Honorable Judge Francis P. Cullen, Mayor John W. Rabbitt and his lovely wife Lois, Frank P. DiPanfilo, Lions Past President Robert Donovan, Laurie Haggerty and Michael E. Moody, all of WOBURN; William Bross, Amy Robertson, Sean Furey, Darrin Byrne and Coach John Donohue, all of WINCHESTER; Jim Barnard, Michael Moll D.M.D., Merrie Mastrodadi, Frank and George Russo, Sal and Anthony Johnson, Carmille DiCocco, John Fogarty and Carl and Flo Nelson, all of NORTH READING; Jim Donovan, Milton Osborne, Mayor Edwin Lucey, Terrell Halls, Allen Incollingo and Janice Taylor, all of MALDEN; Dorothy Maker, Marie Morrison, Mary and Al Michigan, Bill Gray, Sr. and Tom Spillane, all of MELROSE; Dan Bates, Jim Harte, Connie Murphy, Cathleen Murphy and Tom E. Convery, all of MEDFORD.

Fran Tully asked her son Dennis, "What was your Sunday School lesson today?" Dennis replied, "It was all about some guy named Solomon. He had 300 wives and 700 cucumber vines."... A member of the church rummage sale committee asked George Gould, "Do you have any old clothes sir?" "Yes, I'm wearing them!"

Arlene Cook's five-year-old son, Michael, had a habit of picking things off the store shelves when she took him shopping. She came up with a wonderful idea to cure him of that expensive habit. When she entered the store, she took off Michael's trouser belt and that kept him busy holding his pants up!

Jimmy Quinno, Don Harris, Bill McGarr and George Guyette joined a weight-loss club. Well into the second week of knee-bends and push-ups, George couldn't hack it any longer. The administrator of the club told him that the terms of the contract did not permit a refund. "I'm not worried about the money," George said, "If you like, you can call it a donation and say that I wish to remain 'enormous'."

Happy Thanksgiving

Miss Maria Cole, a third grade teacher told her class that there's an old saying that cats have nine lives. "Does anyone know an animal that has more?" Dennis Tully said, "My pet frog croaks every night!" ... President Calvin Coolidge was a stoic, unassuming man of few words. One of his shortest messages ever to the people of the United States was "I do not choose to run." He returned to his native state. Four years later when columnist Dorothy Parker was informed that Calvin Coolidge had died she asked, "How can they tell?"

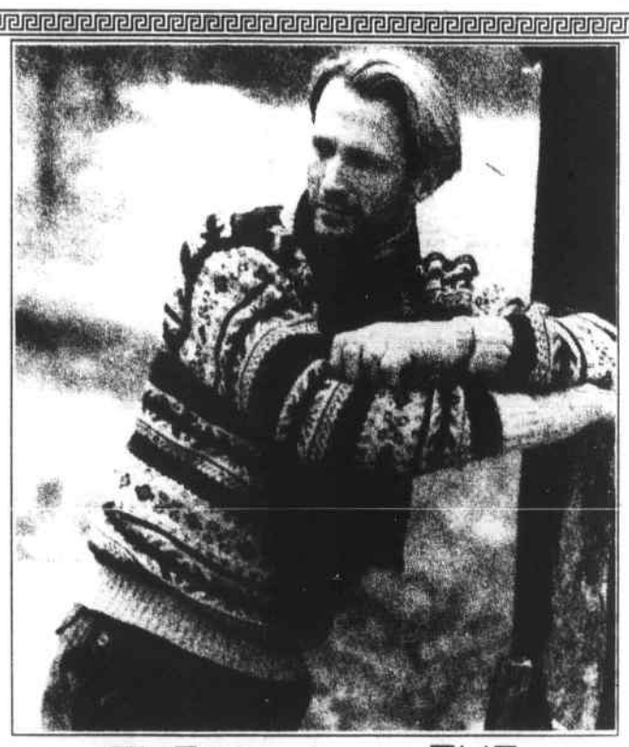

My late Uncle John Shea was born in Dublin, Ireland. He had the natural wit, humor and quick retort common to the Irish. I don't have ten percent of his talent. I remember when at a farm stand he asked, "How much are your eggs?" The farmer replied, "Eighty cents a dozen, the cracked ones are 40 cents a dozen." "Okay," Uncle John said, "Crack me a dozen." If that sounds corn-ball to you, how about when he'd greet everyone at the corner pub with "The top of the morning to all of 'yee' and the rest of the day to myself.'

Speaking of corn, I didn't know that the Hee Haw broadcast ran for 24 years... Most of you know it's hard to get catsup to flow out of a bottle sometimes. The bottle must be held upside down, and hit with the palm of the hand. Well, Kathy was doing that one day when I answered the doorbell. It was Father Dennis Nason of Medford about Kathy being on the committee for a church fundraiser. "Where is she?" he inquired. "She's busy right now, Father," I replied. "She's in the kitchen hitting the bottle!"

At a PTA meeting some women were discussing the difficulty they had getting their children to get up early enough to get dressed, eat breakfast and be on time to catch the school bus. Mrs. Mary Cook said, "I have no trouble at all getting my son, Michael, to get up in the morning. I pick up the cat and toss it on his bed and he gets up right away." "How in the world do you manage to do that?" Mrs. O'Donnell asked. Mrs. Cook smiled and said, "Michael sleeps with his dog!"... Fran Tully said to her husband John, "Help Dennis with his homework while you can. Next year he's in the fourth grade."

Dreamboats: Mary Anne and Debbie Steen, Wilmington; Vanessa James, Malden; Charlene MacCurtin, Reading; Kathleen Sullivan, Stoneham.

Superstars: The Honorable Malden District Court Judge Maurice Flynn, III; Bill McGarr, Woburn; Cosmo Ciccarello, Stoneham; Ed Baratta, Winchester; George Guyette, Lowell; Paul and Elena Mitchell, Tewskbury.

Wakefield peers talk turkey

WAKEFIELD PEERS TALK TURKEY - Calling their mission "Operation Turkey Hunt" and calling on the community for support, Wakefield High peer leaders have been working for weeks on Thanksgiving dinner for 20 ... families in need.

With the full support of advisor A. J. Beebe, they are collecting canned goods and turkey funds from private contributors and local businesses - Pat Norris kicked off the fundraising efforts by contributing the first turkey.

STONEHAM TEACHERS TELL THEIR SIDE - In the following open letter to the parents of Stoneham children and concerned citizens, the Stoneham Teachers Association explains its point of view in this fall's contract negotiations. This letter and a corresponding open letter from the Stoneham School Committee both appeared in the same "Stoneham Independent." The School Committee letter ran in last week's "School Notes."

"For 22 months the Stoneham Teachers Association has sought a fair and equitable contract with the Stoneham School Committee," note the teachers.

"After 22 months (including an entire year of working without a contract) and extensive sessions with a mediator, no settlement has been reached and the process of negotiations has entered a new phase: Fact Finding. Fact Finding is taking place for two reasons. First, mediation efforts have failed to bring about a fair and equitable settlement and something new is needed to achieve a breakthrough. Second, the STA is willing to explore any and every avenue to reach a fair and equitable settlement.

"Fact Finding is a process in which a neutral third party, with no ties to either the STA or the School Committee, will hear evidence from both sides of the conflict. Fact Finding, however, can be a long and costly process, particularly for the School Committee who must retain legal counsel and share the cost of the services of the independent Fact Finder. While a settlement may ultimately be reached as a result of this Fact Finding, the cost and protracted delay inherent in the process serve neither the teachers nor the students of Stoneham.

"What constitutes a fair and equitable settlement?

It would be inappropriate, given the rules that govern our negotiations, to discuss in the media the specific pieces of either the STA or the School Committee proposals. However, we can say with all honesty that the STA is seeking no new benefits, but is asking only to preserve and strengthen the few benefits we have worked hard to establish, both in the classroom and at the bargaining table. As one letter writer to the 'Independent' said, 'Stoneham Teachers really are not asking for more, they just do not want less.'

"STONEHAM TEACHERS DO NOT WISH TO CONTINUE TO ENGAGE IN CONCERTED ACTIVITIES THAT DISRUPT THE WORK WE DO WITH OUR STUDENTS OUTSIDE OF THE CLASSROOM.

"Before this current contract dispute, Stoneham teachers devoted a great deal of their own time serving Stoneham's children. We are concerned about the continued effects of a work-to-rule action on a system we have devoted so much time to strengthening. Unfortunately, circumstances dictate that we continue our work-to-rule action. Although we are suspending our morning picket line, we will continue to take whatever actions our Association deems necessary and appropriate.

"THE STONEHAM TEACHERS WANT TO BELIEVE THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE'S ASSERTION THAT IT VALUES TEACHERS AND TRULY WANTS TO EFFECT A FAIR CONTRACT SETTLEMENT.

"We hope some members of the Committee are sincere in their claims. Unfortunately, the sincerity of the school committee is called into question when some members of the committee make insulting comments and allegations (both in public and private meetings) about the behavior, intentions and worth of the Stoneham Teachers. These comments do nothing but fuel an already emotionally charged situation, and further erode the morale of the school staff.

"FINALLY, THE STONEHAM TEACHERS ASSOCIATION WANTS A FAIR AND SPEEDY SETTLEMENT OF THIS CONTRACT.

"We believe there are creative ways to close out these negotiations within the resources available to the school system. We call upon the School Committee to explore these options with us and end this crisis. Only then can the entire education community join together to rebuild the trust that has been damaged and is necessary if our school system is to meet the needs of all our students."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

'Strains of Life' is speaker topic at Reading Library

"The strains of everyday life can seem overwhelming in today's world. Feelings of depression, joblessness, health concerns, adequate care for children -- all these issues challenge individuals and families everywhere," says local Reading resident Kurt Flach.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Reading, has engaged Robert L. T. Holcomb of Concord to speak to these subjects. The lecture will be on Thursday evening, December 2nd, at 8 p.m. He will be speaking in the Reading Public Library on Middlesex Avenue. Everyone is welcome to this free event.

The title of his lecture is "The Joy of Provable Christianity." In his remarks, Holcomb will deal with the God-given capabilities each individual has as God's child. He will be showing how grasping the consequences of that fact empowers men and women in their everyday experiences. he will be explaining that there is a joy in knowing one is the creation of God. Illustrations of the provability of these ideas are given throughout his remarks.

Kurt Flach

Holcomb is a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He is a Christian Science Practitioner and Teacher. Prior to his commitment to this ministry, he was a Lieutenant Commander in the U.S. Coast Guard and an advertising and publishing executive.

Santa to visit Catholic Charities

Santa Claus is going to be making a stop on the North Shore because he doesn't want to miss the Old-Fashioned Christmas Party to benefit Catholic Charities/North on Thursday evening, December 2, at the Danversport Yacht Club.

"I wouldn't miss it for anything," the bearded guy said, as he patted his round stomach. "The best thing about the party," he said," is that proceeds benefit the agency's programs for kids and families, and it's a fun time, too."

Sister Linda O'Rourke, regional director of the agency, said about 500 people are expected to attend. There will be a silent auction of beautifully decorated Christmas trees and other unique and choice items, a scintillating musical show presented by tenor Jim Dennis and mezzo soprano Alexander Suchocki, a sit-down dinner, and dancing to the music of "The Sidekicks."

"The entertainment and musicians are volunteers and contribute their time and talents, so that more and more children and families can be helped," Sister Linda said, gratefully.

Tickets are $50 per person and can be obtained by stopping by or calling Catholic Charities/North at (617) 593-2312.

Boston's magical season

Visitors are welcome to share in the celebration of another splendid season in Boston. The holiday spirit prevails in Boston and surrounding communities.

Countless tree lightings, fireworks displays and seasonal celebrations decorate Massachusetts for the holidays. Boston comes alive with Christmas merriment. Faneuil Hall Marketplace already illuminated by 300,000 white lights and the Bells of Boston will and ring at the Bell Tower at Faneuil Hall, November 26-December 24.

The magic of the holidays hits Boston with fantastic "new traditions" this year. The First Sleigh Bell Parade will celebrate the traditions of New England and light up the streets of Boston. The event will feature an array of components reflecting the region's history and maritime heritage, the diversity of the seasons and a variety of international holiday traditions. Floats, bands, performers and characters will march through the Victorian Back Bay to Boston Common, December 5.

The shops at Prudential Center have recently opened in time for some fabulous holiday shopping. The Prudential Center will light up the holiday season on December 4 at 6 p.m. as Nova Scotia's gift to Boston, a 60-foot white spruce tree, is brilliantly lit at the 22nd Annual Christmas Tree Lighting and Carol Sing.

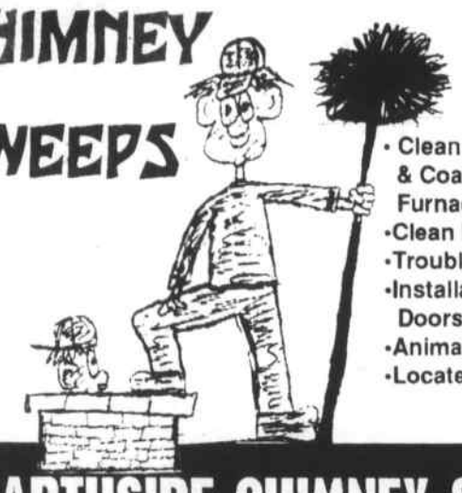

Boston Common lights up and carolers sing beneath the colorful spread of Christmas lights for the 53rd time, December 5 at dusk. This year, more than 50 trees will be lit and there will be more excitement than ever with the first year of Winter Wonderland, an outdoor holiday village created on Boston Common from November 26 through December 26.

Events and activities will take place under heated, tented pavilions decked in holiday cheer. Families can stop by Santa's Workshop to decorate gingerbread houses and cookies. Trips around Boston Common in a horse-drawn antique sleigh and many other holiday attractions are also offered.

Holiday revelers don't have to go as far as the North Pole to find Santa. There's plenty of excitement just north of Boston. Santa Claus is scheduled to make numerous stops in Massachusetts. During Christmas on Cape Ann Santa arrives in Rockport by boat and leads the procession to the tree lighting, December 4.

Downtown Salem is bright with holiday lights and city-side celebrations for Holiday Happenings through January 1.

"Sharing is Caring"

Middlesex East Publications, in association with the Salvation Army will sponsor "M.E. Santa" this holiday season to benefit needy individuals and families in the area.

In many past years, the Salvation Army has worked quietly within the communities. But this year it is asking for assistance due to increased pressure to provide services.

Funds will be distributed locally in the M.E. communities, which include Wilmington, Tewksbury, North Reading, Lynnfield, Reading, Stoneham, Burlington, Woburn, Wakefield, Winchester, Malden, Medford and Melrose.

A list of contributors will be published in Middlesex East throughout December.

Corporations and individuals are encouraged to include their names as part of their donations as efforts are made to promote the fund.

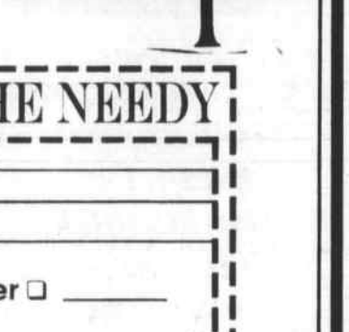

The "M.E. Santa" effort is actually part of the Salvation Army's ongoing service program. Please Help!

Eric's has Open House

Ring in the holiday season at Eric's Greenhouse 7th Annual Christmas Open House Saturday and Sunday, November 27 and 28. The whole family will enjoy two fun-filled days of festivities beginning at 9 a.m. Bring the children for a visit with Santa Claus each day 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Santa's animals will be at Eric's Greenhouse for everyone to see through December 19.

For live entertainment Eric's will feature their own folk singer Liz Geraghty and friends on Saturday morning. Back by popular demand is Jeff Moore of Boston's Ritz Carlton playing favorite classic Christmas carols on the piano from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Mulled cider, hot coffee and refreshments will be served.

This year's highlight of the Christmas Open House introduces Bill Bedard, a Faneuil Hall street performer. Bill will astonish people with his unique talents of juggling, acrobatics, comedy and unicycling. The shows are at 1 and 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Capture the warmth and atmosphere of the Country Gift and Florist Shop at Eric's. Entering the gift shop, there are 10 beautifully decorated theme trees, silk and dried wreaths and arrangements. There's a specially decorated area for children with animated Santa and Mrs. Claus and a cartoon Christmas video playing for their enjoyment.

The shop is overflowing with new and exciting gift lines including folkart santas, Lizzie High dolls, Yankee candles, plush animals, Stannard wind chimes, soft sculpture, gourmet coffee and cocoa, herbal dips and much more.

The florists at Eric's are busily preparing for the Christmas season creating beautiful holiday centerpieces. Special orders are welcome for custom designs in fresh, silk or dried. Floral arrangements and plants are available for delivery locally and worldwide through their FTD and Teleflora wire services.

The greenhouse is filled with thousands of locally grown poinsettias, Christmas cactus, cyclamen, dish gardens and more. Eric's Greenhouse strives to bring the best quality in plants.

Take a stroll through two acres of plantation grown and natural sheared trees including Balsam, Fraser, Douglas Fir and Scotch Pine trees. Also available are kissing balls, swags, garlands and plain or decorated wreaths.

So come and enjoy the Christmas Open House at Eric's Greenhouse where there is something for everyone!

Bay state home sales up 17%

Residential property sales reached their highest level in more than five years in the Bay State during the third quarter of 1993, as low mortgage rates, stable home prices and a gradually improving economy pushed sales of detached single-family homes up 17.7 percent during the third quarter of this year vs. the same period a year ago while condominium sales rose 27.6 percent between July and September of '92 and '93, according to a report issued by the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR).

The sales data from the MAR report shows that 11,111 detached single-family homes were sold during the third quarter of 1993 versus 9,439 during the same period last year.

Additionally, the number of condos sold increased from 1,422 during the third quarter of 1992 to 1,814 between July and September of this year. The figures reflect transactions occurring through Realtor-affiliated multiple listings services n the commonwealth, and account for approximately 40-50 percent of all real estate sales in Massachusetts.

Regionally, sales of both detached single-family homes and condominiums rose in every area of the state during the previous quarter. The South Shore (43.2%), Central (40.4%) and Cape Cod and Islands regions (29.2%) posted the largest gains in single-family home sales during the third quarter of this year vs. the same period a year ago, while the Southeast (66.7%), South Shore (55.9%), Central (43.5%) and West (39.7%) regions saw the greatest increases in condo sales between the third quarters of 1992 and 1993.

The statewide average selling price for single-family homes has now risen for two consecutive quarters, the first time such gains have occurred in the Bay State since the fourth quarter of 1989 and first quarter of 1990.

Jimmy Fund Holiday cards

Nine colorful, original holiday cards created by patients, staff members and supporters of the Jimmy Fund and Dana-Farber Cancer Institute are now available.

The cards are printed on fine-quality, recycled stock. Each set is $20 and contains 15 cards of a single design and 16 envelopes. To receive a brochure, to order cards, or to fine out more about the Dana-Farger/Jimmy Fund Holiday Card Program, call (508) 887-3662.

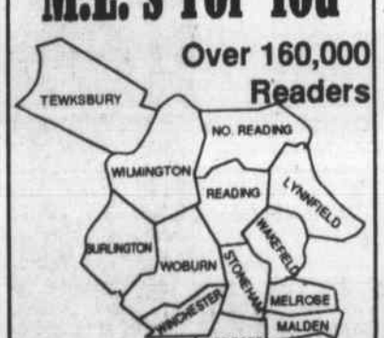

Domestic violence forum

"What Everyone Should Know About Domestic Violence" is the subject of an open forum in Burlington on November 29, at 7 p.m. at the Burlington School Committee Room (Route 3A, rear of Burlington High School, "A" space).

Panelists will be from Lahey Clinic, the Burlington Police and the Support Group for Battered Women. For information, call (617) 270-1822.

This and future forums are sponsored by the Burlington Domestic Violence Initiative Committee - made up of representatives from Lahey Clinic, the Burlington Clergy Association, the Burlington Community Life Center, the Burlington Police Department, the Burlington School Department, the Visiting Nurses Association and the Support Committee for Battered Women.

The top 10 reasons to give U.S. Savings Bonds:

10 They don't require AA AA batteries.

9 No assembly required.

8 They don't need to be tried on.

7 You can send them anywhere without having to pack them in big, brown boxes filled with .

6 They only come in one color.

5 They're available in denominations.

4 Even if they already have one, they'll certainly appreciate another.

3 They make you look like a bigger spender than you really are.

2 They won't be out of style before they arrive.

1 People ALWAYS remember the people who give them Savings Bonds.

Holiday Hit: Roast Goose

(NAPS)—That traditional holiday treat, roast goose, can be tastier—and more healthful—than ever this year. It depends on how you cook it.

Instead of the standard roasting pan, try a cooking method that goes back to ancient times: clay cookery. With a clay cooker, you can make a whole meal in just one pot. Just soak the bottom and top in water for five to ten minutes, place all your food inside and cook in a 400-450 degree oven. Meals are naturally low-fat because no frying is necessary and no additional oils are required in cooking.

A great holiday gift, a clay cooker from Romertopf—the company that sells more clay cookware than anyone else—is great for making soup, simmering stew, roasting meat, poaching fish, and baking. For roasting goose, it's considered ideal. Cooked in a Romertopf, the goose stays moist and juicy in the wet clay throughout cooking and doesn't brown until the end of cooking time. The cover stays on the pot, eliminating oven splatter. No basting is needed, although you will have to remove fat from the pot periodically.

The steps for roasting a goose in a clay cooker are almost the same as the conventional method—the results, gourmets agree, are just better.

Roast your holiday goose to juicy perfection in an easy-to-use clay cooker.

ROAST GOOSE

1 ready-to-cook goose
Juice of one lemon
Salt and pepper to taste
1 Romertopf #113 or #117 depending on the size of your goose.

Prepare one cup of citrus stuffing for each pound of bird.

Soak the top and bottom of the Romertopf in water for 5-10 minutes.

Sprinkle the goose inside and out with lemon juice, salt and pepper.

Fill the cavities of the bird with stuffing and truss the goose, tying the legs loosely to the tail. Prick the skin of the goose all over with a fork to allow the fat out.

Place the goose in the clay pot, breast side up. Place the pan in a cold oven set at 425 F. Roast for 15-20 minutes per pound, ready-to-cook weight. There is no need to baste the goose. After the first 45 minutes of cooking, lift the lid of the pot and remove rendered fat with a turkey baster. Try to remove the fat, not the juices. Repeat at 20-30 minute intervals throughout cooking.

If desired, remove the top from the clay pot about 15 minutes before the expected end of cooking time to speed last minute browning. (Remove earlier for extra crispy skin.) The goose is done when the leg joint moves easily when jiggled.

Remove the clay pot from the oven and place on a mat or towel, not on a cold counter. Make gravy from the drippings in the pot.

For added flavor in the gravy, stir in a little tart currant jelly.

HOLIDAY CITRUS STUFFING FOR GOOSE:

You may prefer to substitute rice which will absorb less fat than bread.

1/2 stick butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
3 tangerines
1/2 pound breadcrumbs
1/2 pound chestnuts (1 cup cooked, peeled and chopped)
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
3 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup chicken stock or orange juice

Cook the onions and celery in the butter until soft. Peel the tangerines, cut the sections in half and remove the seeds.

Combine all ingredients, mixing together lightly. Makes approximately 8 cups.

"Addams Family Values", Short Takes

by Rochelle Flynn

"Addams Family Values" Starring Anjelica Huston, Raul Julia, Christopher Lloyd, Joan Cusack, Christina Ricci, Carol Kane. Directed by Barry Sonnenfeld. Produced by Scott Rudin. Written by Paul Rudnick. Rated PG-13.

Last seen in 1991, the gory but sophisticated Addams family has come back to replenish the family stock - and box office profits.

Angelica Huston, an understated, smoldering gem as Morticia Addams, announces she is about to give birth, and then proceeds to do so. The newest addition to the family, Pubert, is a chubby-cheeked, mustachioed flame hurler who fits right in with his macabre siblings, who immediately develop an advanced case of rivalry. In order to fine some time for themselves, Pubert's tired parents do what any wealthy suburban family would do, they hire a nanny. Only this nanny wants to do more than rock the cradle.

Like the last Addams family outing, this flick is a visual treat. You know you are in for something special from the opening shot, when goofy Uncle Fester (Christopher Lloyd) is standing on the roof of the Addams' gothic home, howling at a huge moon. From the huge angles of the manor house to the mechanical genius of that hand called Thing, it is the artistic design that hemps smooth over a weak storyline.

Huston is all sinewy black curves as she makes sensual small talk with dashing husband Gomez, played with elan by Raul Julia. But the real scene stealer is not the under used Huston, but Christina Ricci as Wednesday. A seriously frightening, but clever child with a black sense of humor, it is Wednesday who discovers that the new nanny has more devastating plans for Uncle Fester than just marriage.

Joan Cusack is Debbie Jelinksy, a bleached-blonde scream who commits the tackiest of Addams' fashion offenses -- she wears pastels. That Debbie is a serial killer is not really a problem. It's that she wants to tear the Addams family apart, and can't. For all their eerie oddness, the Addams clan is solid and loving and don't find themselves in the least bit strange. So when the kids figure out gold digger Debbie's nefarious plans, she packs them off to summer camp before they can warn anyone.

As in the original, not much attention was lavished on plot. There are two story tangents, one involving Fester and Debbie, the second, and funnier, has the Addams kids arriving in Camp Republican, where everyone is blonde, healthy and frighteningly chipper.

Peter MacNichol and Christine Baranski are the happy, happy camp leaders whose methods border on the fascist. They want conformity from Wednesday, her brother Pugsley (Jimmy Workman) and Wednesday's first crush, the allergic, unhappy Joel (David Krumholtz). MacNichol and Baranski, along with the rest of the fair-haired crowd, try to erase all traces of ghoulisness by showing these misfits endless hours of Disney videos and breaking into sickening camp sing-alongs.

Though both jokes are stretched too thin, the camp sequences are very funny. As long as you know that this is more of a visual film depending on one-liners, you won't be disappointed that the plot is on par with a sit-com. In fact, the only real misstep here is Carol Kane, who replaced Judith Malina as Granny. Barely understandable, Cane's eccentric performance added nothing to the role.

My Life is the compelling story of a successful ad exec (Michael Keaton) who learns he is dying of cancer just as wife Nicole Kidman is about to give birth to their first child. Not gritty enough, but this flick certainly looks death in the face as Keaton tries to summarize his existence while leaving a video record behind for his baby. Keaton's powerful presence is fueled by an understated fear and despair that just seep into his face, but never take over his life. The plot pulls a few too many familiar strings, but Keaton's performance is an unexpected, even profound, revelation of his talents. Rated PG-13. ***

The Three Musketeers is an energetic, if unsophisticated version of the Alexandre Dumas oft-filmed classic. What it lacks in sparkling dialogue and polished acting it makes up for with the youthful exuberance of Charlie Sheen, Kiefer Sutherland, Chris O'Donnell and Oliver Platt as the loyal French guardsmen. Nor will you be disappointed by the delightful Austrian backdrops and colorful, detailed costumes. And though this film may be somewhat callow, it is never dull. Rated PG.  1/2

Carlito's Way reunites Al Pacino and director Brian De Palma ("Scarface") for another foray into the bleak world of a doomed gangster. Set in New York in 1975, Pacino is a Latino ex-con trying to escape a lifestyle that should have killed him years earlier. Sean Penn, a coked out lawyer with delusions of toughness, lures Pacino from his plans. Too long, but beautifully orchestrated by De Palma, it captures the gritty atmosphere of the drug and club scenes of the mid-seventies. But it's difficult to accept Pacino as a character who would deny his instincts, even for integrity. Rated R. ***

Flesh and Bone is a West Texas tragedy about two damaged people who hope to find solice with one another. Dennis Quaid is the emotionally crippled son of a con artist and criminal James Caan. Meg Ryan, a lost soul fueled by optimism, recognizes the kindness behind Quaid's remote exterior. You have to accept a certain amount of coincidence for the plot to work, but the characters are fleshed out with such emotional intensity that the story takes a back seat to performances by Ryan and Quaid. Rated R.  1/2

Cool Runnings is a bouncy flick based on the first Jamaican Olympic bobsled team. Not quite as "Rocky"-esque as you'd imagine, this is fun and inspiring, in an offbeat way, John Candy strays from his usual buffoonish roles as an embittered coach trying for one last shot at glory by helping four athletic misfits. Nothing new, though the ending has more dignity than expected. Rated PG.  1/2

COUSIN IT (John Franklin, center) presides over a most undescribable wedding ceremony for Fester (Christopher Lloyd) and Debbie (Joan Cusack) in "Addams Family Values." The Paramount film was produced by Scott Rudin and directed by Barry Sonnenfeld from a screenplay written by Paul Rudnick. David Nicksay is executive producer.
